JFK Says:

Treaty Victory For Man

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said Friday night that the nuclear test ban accord initialled in Moscow is a victory for mankind and a step away from a war that could wipe out 300,000,000 lives in less than an hour.

But the president also was cautious and grave.

He warned that the treaty to halt nuclear tests in space, the atmosphere and under water is no milennium and will not resolve all conflicts, cause the Communists to give up their ambitions or eliminate the dangers of war. (See stories Page 16.)

WELCOME SIGN

Yet he said, it offers to all the world a welcome sign of hope.

And, in a radio-television address that began the build-up to obtain Senate ratification of the pact, the president solemnly assured the country that "our security is not . . . impaired by the treaty I am discussing."

SHAFT OF LIGHT

He said the treaty cut a shaft of light into the darkness and will radically reduce nuclear testing. He said "it is a victory for mankind."

"It reflects no concessions either to or by the Soviet Union," Kennedy said. "It reflects our common recognition of the dangers in further testing."

It Was Fun Trying

Young lass happily believes she has a winner as she drags impressive piece of kelp to weigh-in station. She didn't win playground derby at the breakwater Friday but she had fun trying, as did more than 2,000 other children. See story, pictures, Page 13.—(Ryan Bros.)

Countdown and Out In Mercury Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt.-Col. John (Shorty) Powers, controversial spokesman for the U.S. astronauts, is losing his job. This was confirmed Friday by a source within the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

* * *

The source said that Powers, the voice of "Mercury control" during space launches, will remain at the manned space flight centre in Houston, Tex., but he "will not be in public affairs."

* * *

Rumors of Powers' resignation—or removal—have been circulated since the 22-orbit flight of Astronaut Gordon Cooper last May. It has long been known here that Washington felt it should have more control over publicity dealing with the astronauts. Powers resisted.

At Least 2,000 Died In Matter of Minutes

NIGHTMARE OF RUBBLE

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP - Reuters)—At least 2,000 persons were killed Friday when a violent earthquake sent buildings toppling in the city of Skopje. A massive mercy operation is under way in the shattered Macedonian city where many thousands were reported injured.

The lightning upheaval left a nightmare of rubble and death when it smashed the city. It was the worst natural disaster in Yugoslav history.

Borba, the biggest newspaper in this Communist nation, reported Friday night that 2,000 of Skopje's 270,000 residents died in a matter of minutes under the rubble where Moslem mosques and minarets and modern skyscrapers once stood.

MAY BE HIGHER

But officials in Belgrade and refugees pouring out of Skopje expressed fear the final toll will be many times that.

At United Nations headquarters in New York, Security Council President Ahmed Taibi Benhima of Morocco interrupted a council debate to announce that 10,000 persons had been killed and 100,000 left homeless in the disaster. However, he said later he based his announcement on unofficial dispatches reaching the UN headquarters.

STRUCK AT DAWN

The violent upheaval struck the heart of Skopje at dawn. Nine more tremors shook the southern Yugoslav area but were less severe.

Fires broke out. Great clouds of dust rose over the city of 270,000 people as buildings came crashing down. Thousands of persons fled to streets and squares in panic, clad only in night clothes.

Reuters news agency said semi-official reports estimated the number of dead and injured at between 6,000 and 8,000. More than 100,000 persons were reported homeless.

IMPOSSIBLE TO SAY

Radio Belgrade said there were "thousands of injured" but it was impossible to say yet how many died although the number "must be very great."

It was feared a number of foreigners, including Canadians, were in the ancient city when it was blasted by the nine-degree quake—one degree below the top grading on the Mercalli scale for earth tremors.

A report from Canada said 29 Toronto tourists of Macedonian ancestry were believed to be in the stricken city.

TORONTO VISITORS

The Toronto visitors flew to Yugoslavia June 17 and were to spend two weeks in Skopje before returning home.

Mrs. Hope Christoff of Don Mills, Ont., organizer of the trip, said in Canada that many of the party were booked into the new Macedonia Hotel which

Eyewitness:

Panic Filled Square

Three French tourists — Mr. and Mrs. Guy Mialle, and their friend, Lepitres Sean—were driving in the Skopje area Friday morning when the earthquake struck. Here is Mialle's story.

By GUY MIALLE

BELGRADE (UPI) — We were camping by our car in Skopje's town park. Little did we know what dawn would bring.

About 5 a.m. we set out in our car and drove toward the centre of the sleeping city.

I was glancing at the big Yugoslav army home on the right-hand side of the road. In front of us lay a great, old bridge. At that moment, the earth trembled.

Force Terrific

The force was terrific. The Yugoslav army home began to fall like a house of cards.

Huge stones flew around like cannon balls. The car was taking a terrible beating. We leaped for safety.

In front of us had been an empty square. Now it was jammed with screaming, panicked citizens. They dashed back and forth—maddened by nature—near the army home.

Knocked Flat

Many of them wore nothing but night shirts or pyjamas. I saw one man come running down the street near the army home. A flying stone knocked him flat. I went to help him but he was dead.

Streets in Ruins

The streets lay in ruins. A teachers' college was nothing but a rubble heap with smoke belching out. We wanted to get out of there.

Some local residents gave us a hand in fixing up the car as best we could. We drove away immediately toward the airport. On the way, more tremors shook our car.

At the airport we got aboard a special flight that took us here to Belgrade. I cannot say anything else, I still can think of nothing but the horrible picture of the city we left behind.

Tax Surplus

Sales Give B.C. $9,400,000 Lift

By TERRY HAMMOND
Colonist Legislative Reporter

B.C. shoppers gave Premier Bennett a $9,400,000 bonus last year.

Figures released by the government yesterday showed provincial sales tax revenues for the year ending last March as $96,947,000 against an estimated return of $87,500,000.

But that wasn't the only bonus the premier got.

DRINKERS HELP

Drinkers came through with $2,500,000 which the finance minister didn't expect in liquor profits, and gasoline users scratched together an additional $2,200,000 over their estimated contribution.

Petroleum and natural gas rights created a $6,700,000 windfall and income tax payments produced $2,800,000 which wasn't in the budget.

UNEXPECTED BONANZA

Net result of these miscalculations was $25,900,000 in unexpected revenue.

Welcome as it undoubtedly was, it really wasn't needed because the government's list of underexpenditures from original estimates was almost as impressive — savings totalled $21,000,000.

UNDEREXPENDITURES

Some notable departmental underexpenditures were:

Highways, $8,700,000 (actual spending $68,800,000).

Hospitals, $4,000,000 (actual expenditure, $31,900,000).

'Ghost' Sends Pupils On School Rampage

LONDON (UPI)—Three hundred primary school students, panicked by a rumor that a ghost was loose in their school, smashed 80 windows in the school building before police and teachers could calm them.

Just a Little Something To Remember Us By

HORNCHURCH, England (UPI)—Two grammar school boys were caned by teachers yesterday when they celebrated the last day of school by giving the headmaster's chair to the floor, sealing a piano lid shut, stopping all the clocks, putting dry ice in the band instrument locker, calling six taxis for a teacher, planting stink bombs in a corridor and running a brassiere up the school flagpole.

Let House Clear Me Ex-Navy Man's Plea

By HARVEY SHEPHERD

Stunned by a rebuff from Canada's defence minister, a Victoria man wants the fight to have his name cleared taken to the floor of the House of Commons.

Eric C. Petersen, 879 Tillicum, last night said he was "extremely disappointed, to say the least," in a letter received Friday from Defence Minister Paul Hellyer endorsing the 1961 decision of the Royal Canadian Navy not to re-engage Mr. Petersen, who had served 10 years.

FOLLOWS POLICY

The letter, to Victoria lawyer Lloyd McKenzie, who has taken up the case of Mr. Petersen, said, "I have satisfied myself that the action taken in not re-engaging Mr. Petersen was in accordance with long established policy."

He did not elaborate.

In a reply to Mr. Hellyer, Mr. McKenzie said:

"His (Mr. Petersen's) senior officers told him that the reason for letting him go was his father-in-law's connection with the Communist Party of Canada in the 1930s.

"Your letter does not even confirm this, but simply surrounds an already inexplicable decision with further mystery."

Mr. McKenzie's letter said the defence minister's letter "appears to offer no real justification for the navy's refusal to re-engage Mr. Petersen . . ."

The lawyer says he thinks the solution must come through parliamentary action.

* * *

. . . satisfied

* * *

"I hope that the matter can be debated so that the people of Canada can receive more tangible assurance that the action here taken was not wholly arbitrary, but founded on secure principle, the nature of which has not yet been disclosed.

JUST CAUSE NEEDED

" . . . There should be a just cause for such decision and in the present case that just cause is unknown."

Mr. Hellyer said in the Commons Friday he does not intend to alter the navy's decision and "I do not think it would be in the interest of Mr. Petersen or in the public interest to add anything to what I have said."

SERVICES' OPTION

Answering questions by David Orlikow (NDP—Winnipeg North) he said the services have the option of whether to offer to re-engage men when their terms are up, and Mr. Petersen got an honorable discharge without qualifications which might prejudice his future employment or community standing.

Mr. Petersen last night said that, for the sake of his family, "I am going to get my name cleared, come hell or high water."

Gordon Reports Budget Surplus

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal budgetary surplus of $19,100,000 after the first three months of the current fiscal year was reported Friday night by Finance Minister Gordon.

It compares with a $22,000,000 surplus at the same stage in the 1962-63 fiscal year which ended with an estimated $709,000,000 deficit.

Newest Satellite To Hang in Sky

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Syncom II, a new breed of space communications station, rocketed into orbit Friday and cleared two big hurdles toward its goal as the world's first synchronous satellite—one which hangs like a star over one area of the globe.

ARRESTED

First, the package was shot into a great egg-shaped orbit and as it raced upward received and transmitted back to earth the music of The Star Spangled Banner.

Five hours and 33 minutes after launching, a small motor aboard the satellite fired high over Africa to "arrest" the vehicle near an altitude of 22,548 miles.

At this point the satellite was in near-synchronous orbit and drifting slowly westward. On its present course, Syncom II would follow an equatorial line across Africa and the Atlantic Ocean until it reached a point over northern Brazil eight days from now.

WILL HOVER

Then ground stations plan to send radio signals to activate nitrogen jets which will adjust the satellite's speed and orientation so it will hover about 22,300 miles above the same area at all times.

Lett BCE Judgment Scheduled Monday

VANCOUVER (CP) — The court registry office here announced Friday that the potentially-explosive judgment on the takeover of the B.C. Electric Co. by the provincial government will be released next Monday. (See also Page 6.)

A spokesman for the registry office said the judgment of Chief Justice Sherwood Lett will be released Monday about 2 p.m.

The judgment concerns a complex suit by B.C. Power Corporation, former owner of the B.C. Electric, contending the takeover was unconstitutional and the compensation inadequate.

The government paid a total of $171,000,000 for the company. B.C. Power Corp. maintains it was worth at least $225,000,000.

The timing of the judgment comes almost exactly on the second anniversary of the Aug. 1, 1961, takeover.

Korea: 10 Years of Armistice

Battles Over But Peace Never Came

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UPI) —The Korean armistice was 10 years old today. United Nations troops still stood guard against the Communist threat on South Korea's northern flank.

It was 10 years ago today that a cease-fire agreement was signed by U.S. Gen. Mark Clark, commander-in-chief of the United Nations command, North Korean Marshal Kim Il Sung and Communist China's Gen. Peng Teh-huai, commander of the so-called Chinese People's Volunteers.

But the armistice has not brought real peace. While there has been no renewal of major fighting, there have been numerous clashes and troops have still been killed.

* * *

The situation was underlined by the UNC statements paying tribute to what it called a "decade of courage" on "freedom's frontier."

"There is no peace . . . in Korea today — only a cease fire," a UNC statement in connection with the 10th anniversary reminded.

"Guns of both sides are in position, and the ammunition for them is ready for loading," the UNC said.

* * *

"Armies still face armies across the no-man's land we call the DMZ (Demilitarized Zone) and from this ostensible detente, incidents provoked by Communist infiltration have arisen. In them we have sustained casualties, both dead and injured."

Both the UNC and the Communists have constantly accused the other of violating the terms of the armistice.

The first meeting of the Military Armistice Commission, the principal agency set up to supervise the cease-fire, was held on July 28, 1953.

* * *

Since then, it has met 175 times and its secretaries have met 250 times. The futility of these meetings is pointed up by the large number of violations alleged by both sides and the small number of admissions.

The Communists have accused the UNC of more than 7,000 violations. The UNC has admitted only about one out of every hundred.

The UNC has accused the Communists of about 3,500 violations. The Reds have admitted only two.

The MAC met for 5½ hours yesterday and swapped charges again of alleged violations.

The Communists also rejected again a UNC demand for the release of two American officers captured last May when their helicopter was forced down while checking demarcation line markers.

Former Pat Bay Chief Ending Busy Career

A former Patricia Bay commanding officer, Air Vice-Marshal Larry Wray, will retire next month, Defence Minister Hellyer announced Friday.

He has been Air Officer Commanding, RCAF 1 Air Division, with headquarters at Metz, France, since September, 1958. Before this appointment he commanded the Air Defence Command at St. Hubert, Que.

CAME HERE IN 1940

He first came to the west coast in January, 1940, to take command of a torpedo bomber squadron. He later took command of RCAF station at Patricia Bay.

In 1941 he was transferred to a ir force headquarters in Ottawa as director of operations and late the next year was named to command the RCAF station in Gander, Nfld.

WON CROSS

During this period he won the Air Force Cross when he plunged from a rescue launch into the St. Lawrence River during a violent storm to attach a line to an overturned aircraft.

He remained with the plane for many hours until it could be towed to safety.

Posted overseas in 1943, he took command of RCAF Station, Skipton, in 6 Bomber Group.

AIR VICE-MARSHAL WRAY . . . retires in August

While on a bombing mission over Frankfurt March 14, 1944, he and his crew were forced to bail out after being hit by enemy fire. He was taken prisoner and sent to Stalag Luft III.

During the Russian advance Air Vice-Marshal Wray and other prisoners were moved on foot to another camp. The five-day march in bitter weather took its toll but the marshal helped his companions with "utter disregard for his own safety." For his actions he was awarded the Order of the British Empire.

AIDE TO GOVERNORS

He returned to Canada in 1945 and held various posts incuding honorary aide-de-camp to two governors-general, the Earl of Athlone and Lord Alexander of Tunis.

By January, 1955, he had attained his present rank and was posted to St. Hubert, Que., He went to Metz in September, 1958, from where he will take his retirement.

Use of Human Waste Wrong as Fertilizer

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: An argument has started in our family over the use of human waste for fertilizer. One side declares that it is safe and has been used for years in Europe.

The other side argues that any disease germs or viruses would be carried to whatever fruits and vegetables it was used on.

Me, I have two bushels of canned tomatoes which were given to me, that I won't be able to touch until I know for sure, one way or the other! —Mrs. B.

The precise truth is somewhere between the two arguments.

Human excreta is used in many other countries, perhaps most of all in the Orient. It contains nitrogen and other elements useful in fertilizer—but the fact that it is used does NOT mean it is safe.

GERMS OFTEN PRESENT

Harmful germs may often be present. This does not mean that the diseases are transmitted to the plants and thus back to people who eat the plants.

However, germs can, obviously, get onto the outside of fruits and vegetables, carried there by wind, splashing rain, birds, insects, and the hands or garden tools used by people working in the fields.

Principal risks are dysentery and typhoid, both under good control in this country, but if the germs start getting around these are dangerous diseases.

For such reasons, I am most definitely opposed to the use of human excreta, or "night soil" as it is called in some places.

As to all those canned tomatoes, they'll be safe to eat if you stew them. The cooking will destroy harmful bacteria if any are present.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any way to stop a boy of 10 from snoring? My son seems to be getting worse. We wake him up, and he goes right back into his snoring.—A. B.

It's probably that he is a good sound sleeper, and get so relaxed that his palate flutters giving off the noises.

Most likely courses that may be helpful are (1) have him examined to see that no nasal obstruction is causing him to be a mouth breather; (2) try to get him to sleep on his side, because lying on his back accentuates the snoring.

Nightmare Of Rubble

the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said was levelled with a loss of many lives.

Many of Toronto's 35,000-40,000 residents of Macedonian origin have relatives in the Skopje area.

DAYS OF MOURNING

President Tito decreed Friday and Saturday days of national mourning and expressed his sympathy over the "catastrophic earthquake."

Rescue squads rushed to Skopje, 210 miles southeast of Belgrade. From all over Yugoslavia trucks and buses were pressed into service to evacuate victims.

At nightfall, rescuers still were digging through the rubble from which screams and calls for help could be heard.

STARING BLANKLY

Tens of thousands of persons stood in the ruined streets, some weeping, others just staring blankly at the wreckage of their homes. Many still were in their night clothes.

As a safety precaution, all citizens were ordered to stay out of their homes for the next 24 hours.

Yugoslav army units set up emergency distribution centres for water since the city's supply—as well as its telephone and telegraph lines — was knocked out.

An army barracks and the Communist party headquarters in Skopje were reported toppled as was the four-storey new Macedonia Hotel.

The first shock hit at 5:17 a.m. Skopje time.

Seismologists said the epicentre of the quake was the heart of the city. Lesser damage was reported in the surrounding parts of Macedonia, the southernmost state in Yugoslavia.

The earthquake followed a week of tremors across the Adriatic sea in Italy. Almost daily earth movements had occurred, spreading terror throughout the region but causing no casualties.

It was recalled that Skopje was destroyed by an earthquake in 518 AD and a nearby town, Zashka, disappeared completely in 316 AD.

Cuba Swindled Castro Claims

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Castro charged Friday that Cuba was "swindled" out of $10,000,000 worth of promised ransom goods, and said he hopes the Swiss government will accept his "confiscation" of the U.S. embassy here.

Castro also mocked President Kennedy for his pledge to Cuban invaders that their brigade flag would be returned to them in Havana, and derided "those self-deluded persons" who believe his government will be overthrown.

The Cuban leader, marking the 10th anniversary of his 26th of July revolutionary movement, called on his followers in Latin America to revolt against their governments and said the Soviet Union, Cuba and other Communist bloc members would back their revolts.

FOR RELEASE

The United States, Castro charged, "was obliged to pay $53,000,000 "in ransom for the release of 1,113 invasion prisoners but they only paid $43,000,000 and they are absolutely swindlers."

He said New York attorney James Donovan, who negotiated the release, "was prevented from fulfilling the agreements with us."

PPCLI Back Monday

Two hundred and fifty members of the First Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, travelling by rail from Camp Wainwright, Alta., will arrive at Swartz Bay at 10:40 a.m. Monday.

The remainder of the battalion, about 600 men, will arrive by vehicle convoys at Swartz Bay at 7:40 p.m., 8:40 p.m. and 9:40 p.m. July 30.

Members of the battalion, having spent six weeks of intensive summer training at Camp Wainwright, will go on 30 days annual leave starting Aug. 1.

MANDAN, N.D. (AP) — Sitting Bull almost missed his date to massacre Gen. George Custer because of a traffic jam.

Reinhold Shuster, who plays the Indian leader in a summer pageant, kept 2,500 persons waiting in their seats while he tried to escape the traffic.

Finally Sitting Bull parked his car on the shoulder of the road and ran two miles to the pageant.

HEADING FOR SURPLUS

Net result was that before the late-year decision to pay off $15,500,000 of toll bridge debt the province was heading for an annual surplus of $27,400,000.

Reduced to an $11,900,000 surplus as a result of the bridge payment, the year's under-estimating and under-expenditures increased the revenue surplus account to $40,600,000.

BRIDGES PAID OFF

On April 1, the first day of the new fiscal year, a further $15,400,000 was drawn off to retire more bridge debt, with the result that the surplus account was left with $25,100,000.

The economic review showed contingent liabilities of $1,310,000,000—an increase of only $4,300,000 over the previous year.

Nothing Worked In Doll's Buggy

PROVIDENCE, R.I.—Henry Doll, 18, was charged with operating a defective car after police found:

The driver's seat was broken, the brake pedal was hitting the steering post, a rear fender was cut in half and the car lacked a rear stoplight, licence plate light, starter, horn, dimmer switch, headlight lens, muffler, emergency brake, windshield wipers, windows and floorboards.

Doll, who said the car wasn't his and had a safety inspection sticker, was fined $5.

Free Africans, Portugal Told

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Britain and the United States called on Portugal Friday to move her African territories towards eventual self-determination.

But both countries announced that they could not support a three-power resolution on the territoies that was put before the UN Security Council earlier in the day.

And both spokesmen—Sir Patrick Dean for Britain and Adlai Stevenson for the U.S.—warned African nations against taking matters into their own hands and forcing Portugal out of the continent.

Roger Seydoux of France also expressed opposition to some parts of the draft resolution, although he did not spell out whether France would support it.

The resolution, introduced by Ghana, Morocco and the Philippines, would ask Secretary-General U Thant to "ensure" that Portugal set the African territories on the road to independence and to report back Sept. 30.

The resolution would also have the council impose an embargo on shipment of arms to Portugal that could help her to continue "repression" of the peoples under her administration.

De Gaulle Stand

Peace Bid Test Pact Both Out

PARIS (UPI)—President de Gaulle will refuse any part in the three-power Moscow test ban agreement and will flatly reject Soviet proposals for a non-aggression pact between NATO and the Warsaw Alliance, French sources said Friday.

The sources said de Gaulle shares the view of the West German government that an East-West non-aggression pact would imply recognition of East Germany, a member of the Warsaw pact.

De Gaulle, the sources said, also would ignore the U.S., British and Soviet treaty for partial test ban and go ahead with his plans for building an independent French nuclear striking force. He is expected to make known his stand in a news conference Monday.

Drew Tale Doubted In Ottawa

LONDON (CP) — The Manchester Guardian says Canadian High Commissioner George Drew is being "suggested as most likely successor to Maj.-Gen. Georges Vanier as Governor-General of Canada."

But official circles in Ottawa were inclined to doubt the report.

"I have never heard that such an appointment is being considered," said one source.

There have been reports in Ottawa Mr. Drew will retire in September.

Persistence Pays

THE TREATY to end nuclear testing in the atmosphere, outer space and under water initialed Thursday by representatives of Britain, the United States and Soviet Russia has been rightly hailed as a major breakthrough toward easing East-West cold war tensions.

Apart from the immediate and practical benefits the treaty will bring to a worried world, the agreement also embodies the pledges of all three major nuclear powers to work toward the imposition of a lasting peace brought about by successive stages through the cessation of all nuclear explosions everywhere and the eventual establishment of an internationally controlled disarmament program.

The successful completion of the opening phase of what is sincerely hoped to be but the first of a series of agreements which will have as their end result the ridding of the scourge of war from the world for all time, will bring Prime Minister Macmillan particular satisfaction at this time.

Though the leaders of all three signatory powers deserve praise for their individual parts in reaching this historic entente, it is to Mr. Macmillan that the lion's share of credit must go.

For more than three years the British prime minister has suffered humiliation and insults at the hands of both the American and Soviet governments in his efforts to bring about a rapprochement between the East and West.

More than once Mr. Macmillan was rudely rebuffed by senior officials in the White House and the Kremlin, while American and Russian newspapers made mock of his intentions sneeringly labelling them as "whistling in the dark."

But in this case Mr. Macmillan's oft-time politically disastrous trait of stubborness has paid off—and handsomely.

The free world, at least, should not now be allowed to forget that it was due almost wholly to the British prime minister's single-minded persistence that the meeting between the three powers—from which has emerged the new pact—took place at all.

Good Enough?

THE EVIDENCE of a single automatic recording machine at Jutland and Gorge Roads is cited at city hall as showing conclusively that air pollution has been cut in half since February. Residents and businessmen of that general neighborhood interviewed last weekend thought the situation as bad as ever.

The truth quite possibly is somewhere between the two contentions, one resulting from measurement which appears only semi-scientific and the other from casual observation influenced no doubt by unabated annoyance, since two cinders in the eye are just as bad as three.

While the people of the area chiefly affected can offer no proof of lack of improvement, neither can the machine's verdict be accepted as the final word. Not unless it can be shown that the halving this month of the February level of pollution as recorded at the one location has been in no way related to varying atmospheric conditions and wind patterns. Even a slight difference in predominant wind direction could obviously have a considerable effect.

But even if the recorder happens to have been absolutely right, Victoria can only be pleased that progress has been made in lessening the discharge of fly-ash and smoke, not content that the problem has been solved. The new anti-pollution bylaw according to Alderman Edgelow permits, in relation to the amount of waste burned in the city, the deposit of two tons of carbon a day. And if as once calculated a bucketful of fly-ash weighs about an ounce, that's still a greater volume of dirty fallout than can be regraded with equanimity.

Nor has the smoke—even granting it is now cleaner—ceased to flow frequently in irritating density over a section of the city where there has been much tourist-accommodation development in the last few years and now the new shopping centre. One must question therefore whether the improvement made so far is good enough. Certainly the time has not yet arrived for a return to complacency at city hall.

Hard to Believe

THE MANCHESTER GUARDIAN, an English newspaper of high repute, says that Mr. George Drew, this country's present high commissioner in London, is being suggested as likely to become the next Canadian governor-general, succeeding Major-General Vanier, whose term of office is in its closing period.

One can scarcely believe it. Mr. Drew is the former Conservative leader and Liberal liberality has never before extended itself quite as far as this would indicate.

Mr. Drew would fit the role well, just as he has been a successful diplomatic representative in Britain. He has tendered his resignation from the London post but this was because of the change of government, albeit one regrets that diplomats should be vulnerable to political changes. This is one realm where continuity should be more important than partisan influence.

Mr. Drew of course was before that a leading party politician and came late into a diplomatic post. That is what makes one skeptical of the Guardian's report.

It is true that Mr. Pearson has recently appointed another prominent Conservative to a government post in the person of former trade minister George Hees, named as a director of the projected world's fair in Montreal, but Mr. Hees helped the Liberals into power by turning against his chief, Mr. Diefenbaker. Nothing of that nature belongs to the history of Mr. Drew.

Mr. Drew could occupy Rideau Hall with distinction. He is a man of presence, of outstanding ability, and has a career of service in military and public life ample to warrant preferment of this kind. He would continue the now established pattern of Canadians as governors-general with appropriate dignity and aplomb.

And if the Guardian is correct in its assumption his appointment would redound to the credit of Prime Minister Pearson. It just seems too much to expect, however.

"I expect our guide's cross with us because of all that booing in London."

Khrushchev's Common Market

An Incipient Rebellion

By ERNEST CONINE

AT Galati, Rumania, businessmen from four western nations are being invited to bid for construction of a rolling mill—over the reported protests of the Soviet Union.

"We accept the most favorable offer," an official explained, "whether it comes from a Communist or capitalistic country."

While this kind of talk is taken for granted in the free world, it is heresy behind the Iron Curtain.

It underlines the fact that, while the West quarrels over the future direction of the European Economic Community, Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has his hands full with an incipient rebellion against his own "common market" in Eastern Europe.

Rumania, in the past one of the most docile of satellites, has been flirting with Peking in the very midst of the Soviet-Chinese ideological conflict.

The Rumanians, exhilarated by the highest growth rate in the bloc, are bridling at Soviet advice to curtail their industrial ambitions in order to concentrate on supplying agricultural products and raw materials to their Communist partners.

No one really expects Bucharest to line up formally with Peking against Moscow. But the obvious attempt to exploit the Russian-Chinese schism sets a dangerous precedent for other restive members of the Council for Mutual Economic Assistance (Comecon), the Red version of the Common Market.

The reasons for Rumania's new defiance exist to some degree in almost every Comecon country.

* * *

Comecon was formed in 1949—eight years before the birth of the Common Market in western Europe. Present members include the Soviet Union, Mongolia and all the eastern European countries except Albania and Yugoslavia.

The rationale for Comecon is much the same as for the European Common Market. It is wasteful for each nation to seek self-sufficiency. Instead, each should specialize in those goods which it can produce best and most cheaply, and pass on the benefits to the other partners through trade.

This is especially vital in the age of automation when huge markets are necessary to make practical the massive investments which are required.

Soviet propagandists paint an idyllic picture of international Communist planning—with Comecon playing the role of master planner, channeling trade and investments where they will do the most good, and avoiding the wasteful duplication found in the West.

Comecon members can, in fact, point to some results.

East Germany and Czechoslavakia turn out precision optical equipment and machine tools. The Hungarians make light trucks, while the Poles produce the heavier models. The Soviets are responsible for heavy aircraft, and the Czechs produce light planes.

Industrial output in Comecon nations increased 350 per cent in the period 1937-1961. Essentially, however, Comecon still ranks as a failure.

Khrushchev, himself, has pointed out that trade among Comecon partners has increased no faster than the volume of industrial output. Translated, this means the goal of economic integration, or national specialization, remains largely unrealized.

In contrast, trade among Common Market members has increased twice as fast as production.

* * *

Comecon's failings are rooted deeply in the Communist system, and will be hard to correct.

For example, prices in Red nations are not necessarily based on costs. With such distortions, it is all but impossible to determine which country can produce a given item most efficiently. Thus, decisions tend to be arbitrary.

There is also considerable evidence that the Soviet Union—in an application of the rankest kind of colonialism—uses its influence to rig prices on its own exports high, and prices on imports from Eastern Europe low.

Trade is conducted under bilateral agreements which amount to barter. Exports and imports between Poland and Rumania, for example, must balance at the end of the year—even if one party must take goods it does not want.

There is no multilateral currency system within the Soviet bloc. Thus when Rumania sells goods to Russia, it must use the proceeds to buy something from the Soviet Union—it cannot take the money and buy machine tools from East Germany.

Moscow showed little worry over Comecon's shortcomings until Khrushchev saw the progress being made toward a true common market in Western Europe during the last two or three years.

The Soviet leader apparently sees the European community as a dangerous and unexpected obstacle in his economic competition with the West—and as the economic underpinning for a new German-led coalition against Russia.

Khrushchev wants Comecon to work.

* * *

What has really raised the hackles of Moscow's junior partners is its hard new insistence on abandonment of "wasteful" and "duplicate" enterprises.

Hungarians are unhappy about the 1961 transfer of their radio production to Bulgaria, which has little experience in the field. East Germany was shaken by the Moscow-dictated shutdown of its jet aircraft industry.

For the Rumanians, the sticking point apparently came when the Soviets insisted they abandon the great steel complex planed at Galati.

Instead, Bucharest has begun contracting with Western firms to do the job.

The dispute came into the open after a Rumanian party meeting last March at which Comecon principles were praised—but with the admonition that consideration must be given to "national sovereignty and independence of the various nations."

All this raises a thorny problem for the United States and other Western powers; how far should they go in making trade or other concessions to encourage the demands for more independence in Eastern Europe?

Unless exceptions are made in Common Market rules, for example, Communist nations will be progressively shut out from trade with the European Community as the outer tariff barriers take effect.

In America, Rumania may well present the same political controversy already stirred up by trade-and-aid policies aimed at stimulating greater independence by Yugoslavia and Poland.

The Rumanian leaders themselves probably want the capitalist plums Yugoslavia has gained from its split with Moscow — stepped-up tourism, more trade from the West, freedom to develop industry according to national interests—without risking the final kind of break made by Tito.

Like Hungary, but unlike Yugoslavia, Rumania borders the Soviet Union and is therefore fully exposed to potential Soviet fury.

Khrushchev has his own quandary. Unless Rumania is brought to heel, a chain reaction could destroy Comecon. If he deals too harshly with Bucharest, he could drive Rumania into full alliance with the Chinese.

The people of Rumania, at least for now, have their own ideas. Recently rumors swept the streets that "the Americans are coming," that "soon we will have automobiles and be allowed to talk with foreigners."

Sleepy Hollow Lesson

Changes Ahead

By ANTHONY SAMPSON from London

SELDOM have so few done so much for so many." So said Colonel Van der Bergh, of the South African security branch, after the recent round-up of 17 leaders of all races in "Sleepy Hollow," a suburb of Johannesburg.

The colonel was probably right. The resistance to the South African government has so far depended on a very small group of people; and now practically all of them are in jail. Robert Sobukwe, leader of the Pan-African Congress, is detained on an island off Cape Town. Nelson Mandela, the "Black Pimpernel" of the African National Congress, is in prison; Chief Albert Lutuli, winner of the Nobel Peace Prize, is confined to his home district in Zululand; and now Walter Sisulu, who was the most important Congress leader still at large, has been arrested and detained.

* * *

The South African police have cause to be pleased with themselves. In this latest swoop they arrested several people including Europeans, Africans and Indians. The new legislation, under which suspects can be detained for 90 days' questioning without trial, allows the police to take people off whenever they like, without fuss. Anyone suspected of political activity is liable to disappear suddenly for questioning. A correspondent from the republic describes how he called on a painter to discuss a charity show, to find him walking away from the building with large plain-clothes men on either side.

But the task of the police has not, it must be said, been overwhelmingly difficult. For the African resistance have been very reluctant to come to terms with the hard facts of the civil war. They have found it difficult to become a secret, underground organization. They have liked to boast, from time to time, of their following and plans. A certain cheerful amateurism has hung around their organizations. And in a society riddled with informers, a large part of their information has been passed back to the police.

Africans have also maintained, unlike most nationalist movements, close links with white and Indian allies, which have helped to give their policies and attitudes a more moderate character. In the face of all the apartheid laws, the instrument to race hatred and the attractions of racialism, this link has remained.

* * *

In the recent swoop, the police found the African leaders with such prominent white figures as Arthur Goldreich, who designed the decor for "King Kong," and B. A. Hepple, a barrister and son of a member of Parliament.

The key figure in the arrests, Walter Sisulu, belonged to a firmly multi-racial world. Now a man of 50, he began his political career as an ardent racialist from the Xhosa tribe, and worked his way up through menial jobs in the gold mines to become a nationalist leader. But he then came under the influence of left-wing white leaders, and gradually shifted to a much less nationalist position—insisting always on a multi-racial South Africa in which whites would have their share.

But this moderate temper of African leaders has made them an easy target for the police; they have not enjoyed the safety of a real underground. Again and again the police have found wanted politicians in situations of surprising casualness.

But it is likely that this swoop will mark the end of the era. In the first place, the police will, as Colonel Van der Bergh suggested, have effectively decapitated the resistance for the time being. But, secondly, they will have demonstrated that cocktail party politics are not tough or secretive enough for the struggle ahead. Already Africans are beginning to learn more ruthless and clandestine techniques from Algerians, Cubans and others—just as the South African government has learnt from French tactics in Algeria.

The new generation of black South African leaders will be much less moderate, and more racialist, than the prisoners of Sleepy Hollow.

The Packsack

Best Kind

By GREGORY CLARK

IT seems to me a silly thing for people to say they prefer hot weather to cold. In cold weather, you can always find some way to keep warm. But in hot weather, there is no way to keep cool.

Oh, I admit they have dreamed up air conditioners and things you can stick in your window-frame to inject cool air into your bedroom. Some of the big stores, increasing numbers of the big office buildings, have installed fantastic devices for the conditioning of the temperature to a beautiful coolness. One of the big store managers was telling me the other day that during the late hot spell the store was crowded with shoppers who weren't buying a cent's worth of merchandise but were foregathering for a pleasant couple of hours in the ideal northern clime the store, at an expense of hundreds of thousands of dollars, had installed.

In one of Lord Grey of Fallodon's books he mentions a British gentleman who said: "Unlike the tropics, in England it is always some kind of a day."

In Canada, we are blessed with a gloriously mercurial temperature. It is always some kind of a day. But the best days are the cold days, on which you can discover some way of keeping warm. The hot days belong in the tropics, in which it is no kind of a day.

In the Ocean

Just A Drop

By CASSANDRA from London

MILLIONS of eyes and ears in our part of the Western World are concentrated on a squalid human intrigue which is instantly recognized all over Europe by one nine-letter word—CHRISTINE.

Christine (what a grotesque juxtaposition of the first six letters!) has become a code word connected with prostitution, blackmail, drugs, gunmen, thugs and political scandal.

Yet all this is as nothing when seen in its true perspective, and compared with the events that have just taken place in Moscow and the gigantic consequences to come.

The greatest political system on earth, measured in terms of numbers and fanaticism of ideology, has split in two.

Russian Communism and Chinese Communism have divided, and together with their satellites over a thousand million people have had their unity destroyed and been thrown into two different camps. And hostile camps at that.

In the long turbulent history of the past 46 years since the followers of Lenin murdered the Tsar and threw Russia into a revolution that has spread round the world, there has been nothing more important in the bloody struggles of the Soviet Union than the breakdown of the Moscow-Peking partnership.

The whole of Asia, and especially the 500,000,000 people of India, Pakistan, Burma, Vietnam and Siam, is deeply involved. Mao Tse-tung, already committed against Nehru and devoted to military action against the capitalistic West, could easily strike again.

Against this gigantic troubled scene Christine Keeler, Mandy Rice-Davies and all the rest of the mob are one tainted drop of water in the vast ocean of world affairs.

I AM largely indifferent to the controversy as to whether boxing should be made illegal, as Baroness Summerskill wishes it to be.

In the business of saving life and preventing injury there are much more important and rewarding causes—especially for a woman of Baroness Summerskill's intelligence.

But I must say I was all for her when I heard her broadcast on the subject from a boys' club at Plaistow the other night.

The audience was packed with, I should say, about a couple of hundred supporters of boxing, ranging from 17-year-old youths to commercially interested managers and medical officers, all concerned with the business of muscular males striving to give each other a good hiding—maybe at times well deserved.

I have rarely heard such an addlepated audience as this one, and although Baroness Summerskill's main object is to stop brain injuries to pugilists, the cerebral equipment of this particularly biased and hostile congregation didn't seem to me to be very valuable.

Apart from the bawling exhibition of bad manners and worse sportsmanship towards the speaker, I doubt whether there has ever been such an occasion when the net result has been to increase and reinforce so much the case against prize-fighting.

Latin-American Free Trade

Program to Watch

By AARON R. EINFRANK

CANADIAN businessmen are going to have to keep a careful eye on the rapidly developing Latin American Free Trade Association if Canada is not going to be shortchanged by the drive toward economic unity in South America.

This is the opinion of department of trade and commerce officials attached to the Canadian embassy in Mexico City.

According to these officials, the two-year Latin American Free Trade Association (commonly called LAFTA) has made "surprisingly good progress." But these officials warily note "Canadian exporters have an important present and potential stake in this area and should carefully follow the development of the LAFTA in the next few years."

The purpose of LAFTA is, as the name implies, to form a free trade area in which goods produced by member countries can circulate without tariff obstacles.

The nine LAFTA countries are the most industrially developed of Latin America. They are Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Mexico, Uruguay, Peru, Colombia, Ecuador and Paraguay. These countries comprise 86 per cent of Latin America's area, 81 per cent of its people, 70 per cent of its gross product, and 80 per cent of its total trade.

Under LAFTA rules customs duties imposed by member states are to be progressively reduced until 1972 when the association is expected to achieve its free trade goal. Already LAFTA is well ahead of duty-cutting schedule, with a 30 per cent cut in all duties achieved so far.

* * *

However, Canadian officials here stress that the duty cuts apply only to LAFTA members, and outsiders like Canada do not benefit from them directly. This means that as trade becomes progressively freer within LAFTA, there will be a tendency among LAFTA members to do business with one another rather than with outsiders like Canada.

Last year, Canada's exports totalled more than $140 million to LAFTA members as compared with $80 million to 10 non-LAFTA members of Latin America. These exports to LAFTA may be seriously "curtailed," the Canadian embassy warns, if LAFTA continues on its way to economic integration.

But in spite of this, the Canadian embassy along with Canadian businessmen operating in Mexico City, maintains that Canada's prospects for doing business with LAFTA are far from gloomy.

One reason for this optimism is that LAFTA, by spurring Latin American economic development, will actually increase overall imports of LAFTA countries—although selected items may no longer need to be imported because of LAFTA's self-sufficiency.

Another cause for optimism is that LAFTA brightens the prospects of Canadian investments in LAFTA countries as well as giving an added incentive for Canadian firms to set up subsidiaries within the LAFTA area.

The embassy points out that Canadian investors who invest in LAFTA countries are likely to find that these industries become big profit makers as trade within the area increases. Under these circumstances, the embassy points out that dividends from Canadian investments in LAFTA countries will flow back to Canada, thus helping Canada's chronic balance of payments problem.

* * *

As for Canadian firms who want to set up production facilities within the LAFTA market, the embassy provides an advisory service headed by Frank Clark, the embassy's commercial counselor.

Speaking about Mexico, Clark says that the opportunities are good for Canadian firms who might want to operate here in order to take advantage of the low-tariff LAFTA market.

However, Clark does note that Mexico's efforts to "Mexicanize" its industry make it imperative for Canadian businessmen to share control of any subsidiaries with Mexican ownership.

The first successful trans-Atlantic cable was completed 87 years ago — in 1876 — with the landing of the 2,134-mile cable at Heart's Content, Nfld. The first cable, laid in 1858, failed three weeks after it was completed. A second success was achieved in 1876 when cable that had parted while being laid the previous year was spliced and completed.

1953—The Korean armistice was signed.

1956—Austria regained her independence.

hoping for a glare-free summer?

People who love the sun know, paradoxically, that they must protect themselves from it. You can see its effect on your skin; its effects on your eyes can be fatigue, headache, and eyestrain. The finest sunglasses are ground and polished optical glass. Best colours: gray, green, and smoke. They're not expensive, and when it comes to your eyes they're the only right thing to wear. Late Buying Helps

NEW YORK (AP) — Late buying Friday enabled the stock market to post its second advance in 13 sessions as trading shrank to the lightest pace of 1963.

Steady investment demand for oils was the outstanding feature of the day. The big oil companies remained in favor due to record profits for Standard Oil (New Jersey) and a bright earnings picture for many others.

Later in the day, however, came news that living costs in the United States for June took their longest leap forward in nine months. Rising prices are always bullish for the stock market.

Thunderstorms Hit Manitoba

WINNIPEG (CP) — Severe thunderstorms moved across southern Manitoba Thursday night, leaving a trail of disrupted hydro and telephone lines and minor flooding.

Hardest hit by the storm was the town of Altona, 70 miles south of Winnipeg. The town's main street was flooded by 3.78 inches of rain.

ATLAS INCLUDED

Net profit of Rio Algom Mines Ltd. for the first six months of 1963 was $7,737,000 (73 cents a share) compared with $4,790,000 (45 cents) in the corresponding period of 1962. Gross revenue rose to $64,000,000 from $24,000,000.

The sharp increase in earning is due to the fact that the operations of Atlas Steel, now part of Rio Algom, are included for the first time.

African Nations Seek Embargo

Chinese Buildup Claimed by India

NEW DELHI (AP) — India has told the six Colombo nations that Communist China is again engaged in a military buildup along the disputed Himalayan border, official sources say.

Foreign Secretary M. J. Desai called in diplomats of Burma, Cambodia, Ceylon, Ghana, Indonesia and the United Arab Republic to tell them.

Although oil was discovered in Kuwait in 1938, the Second World War held up exploitation and serious production began in 1946.

Favorable Ruling Due?

B.C. Power Leads

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Canadian investors put down more than $400,000 to buy shares of B.C. Power Corp. on Canadian exchanges Friday.

On the Canadian exchanges, B.C. Power was the leading industrial trader with 18,891 shares changing hands. The closing price of $22—one dollar higher than a week ago—suggested investors were willing to take a chance that Mr. Justice Lett's forthcoming judgment on the long-drawn-out legal dispute with the B.C. government would not be altogether unfavorable to the company.

BEFORE ELEVATION

Mr. Justice Lett is expected to hand down his decision Tuesday before his elevation Aug. 1 to his new post of Chief Justice of B.C.

B.C. Power's action contested the legality of the takeover of its subsidiary B.C. Electric by the province, and failing that the terms of the takeover which the company declared to be inadequate.

POWER CORP'S CAPTURE

The bid of $5.116 by Power Corp. of Canada for the 6,807,713 shares of Shawinigan Industries owned by Quebec Hydro Authority has been accepted by the Quebec government.

Power Corp.'s bid was the best of three submitted, and the offer is being extended for purchase at the same price of the 1,820,606 shares of Shawinigan Industries now held by the public.

COST $34,000,000

The deal will cost Power Corp. about $34,000,000 but the new cash requirement will be a great deal less, for Shawinigan Industries has about $24,000,000 in cash, as a result of its sale of stock to B-A Oil.

The Shawinigan Industries shares were originally offered in the form of rights to the holders of Shawinigan Water and Power when it was taken over by Quebec Hydro, but less than one in five of the shareholders of the company thought the shares were worth the $5 the government of Quebec was asking.

REMAINS SEPARATE

Peter N. Thomson, president of Power Corp., said Shawinigan would remain a separate company but ultimately its operations and investment activities would be integrated.

Power Corp. of Canada was one of the largest shareholders of Shawinigan Water and Power, a recent market valuation of its shares in that company being estimated at over $10,000,000.

LINKED TO B.C.

In addition, Power Corp. was a heavy shareholder in B.C. Power, and in Canadian Oils which is now part of the Shell group of companies.

Shawinigan Industries shares, which traded around 4.70 before the Power Corporation offer was made public, rose Friday to $5.

BLOW TO ALUMINIUM

Although no official statement has yet been made, it is understood on reliable authority that the new convertible preferred shares issued earlier this month by Aluminium Ltd. will not be transferable into the U.S. without payment of the new 15 per cent U.S. interest equalization tax.

The Aluminium Ltd. issue of 1,500,000 preferred shares of $40 par worth $60,000,000 was said to be the largest single piece of equity financing ever attempted in Canada.

GOOD ACCEPTANCE

The shares were offered to the public at $41⅛, and the early acceptance was said to be very good, and considerable buying took place in the anticipation that the shares, which in the primary offering were not eligible for sale in the U.S., would find a strong secondary market in that country.

When President Kennedy clamped on his new 15 per cent tax and put the U.S. marketing in doubt, the new Aluminium shares were harder to move.

U.S. SALE UNLIKELY

The latest information is they will not be sold in the U.S. unless the potential buyers are willing to pay 15 per cent on their capital outlay, which with the yield only slightly more than 4 per cent, does not look likely.

The new shares will be listed Monday, and Friday over-the-counter quotations were $39 to sellers and $40 to buyers.

While leaders of the underwriting group say they are satisfied the shares have been well placed, there is no doubt the issue has been the first serious casualty of the new U.S. taxation.

Portable Plan Fine—But

B.C. Won't Hand Over Its Pension Money

Loan Plan Changes Seen

OTTAWA (CP) — Provincial premiers and representatives put their strongest bargaining positions before the federal government Friday on its controversial municipal loans and contributory retirement pensions plans.

After the day's two lengthy sessions in a closed West Block conference room a federal government source said that changes are likely in the legislation to establish a $400,000,000 municipal development and loan fund and the government still hopes to have it passed by Parliament next week.

★ ★ ★

The strongest positions were taken by Quebec Liberal Premier Lesage and Ontario Conservative Premier Robarts.

Mr. Lesage said his firm intention is to "contract out" both the loan fund and the pensions plan. He would like Quebec's share of the federal money turned over to the provincial treasury, together with the responsibility of administering it.

★ ★ ★

Premier Robarts said that while Ontario agreed in principle with the spirit of the federal proposals, there were many points on which they did not fit Ontario's need.

On the municipal loan fund, Premier Lesage asked for 30 per cent of the $400,000,000 — roughly equivalent to Quebec's share of Canada's population.

Premier Robarts said that since the federal government intended to forgive repayment of 25 per cent of the loans made from the fund, $100,000,000 should be turned over to the provinces as direct federal grants, which the provinces could allocate to the municipalities.

After the day's meetings, a federal briefing officer told reporters that the eight premiers and representatives of Alberta and British Columbia stated their positions, and then there was a general discussion of the municipal loans in which most of the six federal ministers attending also participated.

Premier Lesage's proposal to stand aloof from the federal-provincial arrangement was "listened to," but contracting out was not discussed as a principle.

The principle of contracting out was suggested by the federal Liberal party in last year's election platform. Prime Minister Pearson told reporters that a province which does not want to join fully in a federal-provincial program will not be financially penalized.

The conference resumes today at 10 a.m. EDT with more discussion of the municipal loans and it is "probable" that the federal government and the provinces will arrive at agreed positions, the briefing officer said.

It is not intended that the conference try to reach agreement on the Canada pensions plan since legislation on it is not regarded as so pressing before Parliament recesses next week for the summer, he added.

Saskatchewan's Premier Lloyd issued a stinging attack on the government for entering the municipal field without consulting the provinces. He said property owners will face higher taxes to pay off the loans.

★ ★ ★

Modified support was voiced by the premiers or representatives of Manitoba, Alberta, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia. Newfoundland's Joey Smallwood just said: "I'm in favor of everything."

B.C. likes the idea of a federal portable pension scheme but not to the extent it is prepared to hand Ottawa $250,000,000 in pension fund money which it now controls.

The money is a major instrument of B.C. financing.

For example, civil service fund assets of $78,000,000 include $30,000,000 worth of B.C. school bonds, $16,000,000 in B.C. Toll Authority Bonds and $8,000,000 in B.C. Hydro bonds.

With other pension funds administered or held in trust, the monthly take for potential investment runs to several million dollars.

The government operates pension plans for all provincial civil servants, B.C. teachers, crown employees and municipal workers.

So B.C. Friday claimed exemption from the new federal social security scheme for all provincial employees, teachers and municipal workers already covered.

Premier Bennett's office issued a statement saying B.C. supports the principle of portable pensions but not to the point where they become compulsory for public employees.

The statement went on to say B.C. agrees to share in the cost of increasing old age, blind and disability pensions from $65 to $75 a month which means B.C. pensioners can get $75 plus the $24 provincial supplementary grant.

Also under consideration in Ottawa is the federal municipal loan plan.

The premier said one section would require municipalities to "stoop to subterfuge" in obtaining approval for loan projects.

He suggested Ottawa drop its plan to write off one quarter of each municipal loan and substitute an interest rate lower than 3¾ per cent.

Probe 'Prejudged'

OTTAWA (CP)—At least five of the 10 royal commissioners on biculturalism prejudged the functions of the inquiry in separate interviews, Opposition leader Diefenbaker complained Friday. Acting prime minister Paul Martin promised to investigate.

Tattled on Christine, Mandy

Ward 'Protector of Young Girls'

LONDON (UPI) — Dr. Stephen Ward admitted Friday he introduced film star Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Lord Astor to playgirls Christine Keeler and Marilyn (Mandy) Rice-Davies.

But he angrily denied he was guilty of procuring and instead pictured himself as a protector of girls who were young, pretty and down on their luck.

In his second day on the witness stand at his vice trial Ward testified that while Christine was living in his apartment he grew so upset over her immoral behaviour he told her mother on her. He also said he told Mandy's parents what she was up to.

Christine's mother told him the only time she felt happy about her daughter was when she was living in Ward's apartment. He didn't say how Mandy's parents reacted but he said he felt she gave evidence against him because he tattled.

Ward said his motives were innocent when he introduced Christine and Mandy around to his famous friends.

At one point the prosecutor, with an assist from the judge, tallied up the men in the lives of the two playgirls.

Counted Men

Prosecutor Mervyn Griffith-Jones counted up 10 for Christine over two or three years. These included John Profumo and Soviet naval attache Eugene Ivanov.

Griffith-Jones counted six for Mandy, but Justice Sir Archie Marshall said: "I have already analyzed this and I make it eight."

Griffith-Jones insisted six was correct—Astor and Fairbanks, although both have denied they ever were intimate with Mandy—an unnamed film executive, an Indian doctor, a young Persian and Peter Rachman.

Pounded Fist

At times Ward pounded his fist against the side of the witness box until he was admonished by the judge.

The 50-year-old playboy, who said he would have quit his practice as an osteopath if he really had been a procurer, made it clear he regarded the testimony of Vicki Barrett, a prostitute, the most damaging against him. She testified he arranged for her to be intimate with men in his apartment.

"May I say if she is telling the truth I am guilty," Ward almost shouted. "If she is not then someone else is."

Not Telling Truth

"Is she telling the truth?" the prosecutor asked.

"No." Ward's fist fell heavily on the railing.

After Ward left the stand in Old Bailey the defence called Sylvia Parker, 23, former girl friend of (Big Tony) Mello, kingpin of the Soho clip joints who was shot to death last spring. She said she moved into Ward's flat as a guest to escape publicity and wanted to testify because of Miss Barrett's story.

Load of Rubbish

"I never met Miss Barrett," she said. "As far as I know (her testimony) is a complete load of rubbish. I was living there."

Also called as a defence witness was Vasco Lazzolo, society artist and friend of Prince Philip. He denied Miss Barrett's story that she had been intimate with him at Ward's flat, or anywhere else.

But Frances Brown, an admitted prostitute, said Vicki had relations with him in his own apartment.

"I was present in the room and I saw it," she said.

Part in Show

Asked if Mandy and Christine ever had worked for a living, Ward said Miss Rice-Davies once had a part in a show starring Sammy Davis, Jr. Christine had appeared on BBC television.

He said Christine had a baby before he met her and therefore he was not dealing with an innocent teenager.

Ward gave his version of the moonlight swimming party at which Christine met Profumo. He said it wasn't true Christine was swimming in the nude.

Actually, she was wearing a bathing suit, or part of one. The rest of it, he said, had been lost in the pool while they were "fooling around."

Ban Lauded

Death Not In Vain

TOKYO (AP) — "The death of my father has not been in vain," said the 14-year-old daughter of the Japanese fisherman who died after the fishing boat Lucky Dragon was showered with radioactive ash from a U.S. nuclear test.

★ ★ ★

Aikichi Kuboyama and 22 other fishermen aboard the 100-ton tuna boat were showered by white ash from a test at Bikini atoll March 1, 1954. Kuboyama died Sept. 23.

★ ★ ★

Kuboyama's widow Suzu and her children live in the fishing village of Yaizu, in central Japan. There they heard the U.S., Britain and Russia had agreed to stop nuclear weapons tests except those underground.

★ ★ ★

She led her children to the family altar, reported the agreement to her husband's spirit and offered prayers to him.

"I now hope a total ban on nuclear testing will come soon," the widow said.

Junk Proves Costly

One of Victoria's more colorful figures, Harry Haigh, 1586 Rockland, was fined $150 on a charge of unlawfully operating a junkyard, and in city magistrate's court Friday, he was given a month in which to pay his fine.

Haigh's case had been remanded for a week to allow him to work out some arrangement with the city to clear the junk out of the yard at his home.

Crown prosecutor T. P. O'Grady told the court Haigh was not interested in this proposition and suggested the case be completed.

"I've taken a lot of the stuff away. I haven't brought anything in," Mr. Haigh contended.

Magistrate William Ostler, pointing out Haigh already appeared in court in April and had been bound over to keep the peace and be of good behavior, imposed a $150 fine.

Haigh said he did not have the money and asked time to pay.

WARRANT ISSUED

"Last time he was given time to pay he was brought in on a warrant," said Mr. O'Grady.

"It was the last day before the fine was up. I was just on my way to pay the fine and stopped for a cup of coffee in a cafe," said Haigh.

He was given a month to pay.

* * *

A probation report was asked by Magistrate Ostler for a 19-year-old boy who altered his plea to guilty.

Patrick J. Ashe, 960 Parklands, was charged with public mischief.

Const. John Kelly told the court he witnessed the accused put his elbow through a seven-foot by six-foot $149 display window at 546 Johnson.

NOT DRUNK

The youth ran off and was caught by Const. Kelly who found him standing in a doorway at 1400 Government Street. Kelly said the accused had been drinking but was not drunk.

Questioned by the court on the window-breaking, Ashe admitted he was showing off to two friends.

"Now is the time, if anything is to be done to help," Magistrate Ostler said as he called for a probation report.

* * *

The unemployment insurance act should be treated with as much respect as the criminal code, city magistrate's court was told yesterday.

Magistrate Ostler said people who feel they can violate the act with impunity were under a mistaken impression. He was speaking to the case of William Rickets, 800 Intervale, who pleaded guilty to a charge of making a false declaration stating he was laid off Esquimalt winter works projects which were completed.

NOT LAID OFF

Investigation by Unemployment Insurance officials disclosed he had been discharged.

Lawyer David Hummel, appearing for the commission, pointed out that though there was a record the accused appeared to have settled down since 1960.

"You should be grateful to the prosecutor for his eloquent address," Magistrate Ostler told the accused and remanded the case for a probation report.

Conductor Appointed

Montreal conductor Otto-Werner Mueller, 36, has been appointed temporary conductor of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra for a year while regular conductor Hans Gruber is away on leave of absence. The lanky replacement directed one concert here last season, winning high praise.

None Serious

B.C. Fires Edge '62 Low

British Columbia's 1963 forest fire season continues only slightly worse than last year's record low as officials ended another week Friday without a high hazard area.

The past week was one of the best since the 1963 season began. There were only 37 new fires.

Of 34 still burning at week's end, none was considered serious.

Total number of fires this year rose to 1,777 compared with 836 a year ago. Suppression costs amount to $232,000, compared with $123,000.

In spite of low to moderate hazards throughout B.C. up to late yesterday, forest officials warned a break in the recent mild, wet weather patterns seems to have arrived.

Thugs Score One Hit One Error

Thieves were only 50 per cent successful in two purse-snatching tries Thursday night.

Mrs. Nellie Veal, 77, of 924 Fairfield, chased a thief when he grabbed her purse as she was walking along Rockland near Linden but the odds were against her and he got away.

* * *

Mrs. Ann Holman, 37, of 340 Linden, had better luck when a thief tried to snatch her handbag. She hung on and shouted, frightening the culprit off. She was attacked on Oscar around the corner from her home.

Both culprits appeared to be youths or young men. Mrs. Veal believed her assailant to be about 14.

Whoa, Tallyho City Problem

The hot potato of whether the popular horse-drawn Tally-ho vehicles should be allowed to continue operating on busy Victoria streets has been dropped into the laps of city aldermen.

A letter alleging Tallyhos were recently involved in three incidents in the Joan Crescent area has been referred to city public works committee.

* * *

Mention of the letter was made to city council when Ald. Lily Wilson suggested the city traffic department should review the situation.

"Apparently they have run away several times, particularly around Joan Crescent, where the road is a little bit narrow."

* * *

"When we came here years ago there was very little traffic but today it is quite thick and continuous," another letter reads, in part. It was referred to the streets traffic committee.

"We have a lot of children in the district now and elderly people and feel they should be protected as they enjoy walking around here and they should be safe in doing so . . ."

Torpedo Plan Pays Rocky Point Staffer

Rocky Point technician Basil Harford, 1085 Tillicum, won a cash award from the suggestion award board of the Public Service of Canada, the navy said Friday.

The suggestion, which has been adopted for use in the navy, concerns a modification to certain torpedo mechanisms to increase efficiency and avoid damage.

Mets Set Futility Mark Road Loss Streak 20

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Houston Colts pushed New York Mets to another record of futility Friday night—handing the National League tailenders their 20th straight loss on the road, 7-3.

The Mets, who set a big league mark for total losses in their first season last year with 120, passed the modern major league high for consecutive defeats away from home set by Philadelphia Athletics in 1916.

The Colts put it away early, scoring all seven of their runs in the first inning, and eased in behind the six-hit pitching of Dick Farrell.

Also in the NL—St. Louis Cardinals whipped Chicago Cubs 4-1 and Cincinnati Reds used 18 hits to swamp Milwaukee Braves 11-1.

Tony Taylor drove in five runs with three singles as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated Los Angeles 6-5 and cut the Dodgers' NL lead to five games.

Left-hander Chris Short got his third victory in 11 decisions. The loss went to Bob Miller, now 7-6.

HOMER WINS IT

Chuck Hiller smashed a home run with one out in the last of the ninth inning, giving San Francisco Giants a 6-4 decision over Pittsburgh Pirates for their fifth straight victory.

Hiller hit his winning drive over the right field fence and gave the victory to Jack Fisher, the fourth Giant pitcher of the night. Reliever ElRoy Face took the loss.

In the American League, New York Yankees maintained their commanding eight-game lead, shading Minnesota Twins 6-5; Baltimore Orioles pushed into second place with a 6-0 shutout over Chicago White Sox behind Milt Pappas' three-hit pitching; Boston Red Sox edged Los Angeles Angels 5-4; Cleveland Indians ended Kansas City Athletics' winning string at five games, 3-2; and Ken Retzer's two-run homer in the seventh inning gave Washington Senators a 3-1 victory over Detroit Tigers.

BIG HOMER

Bob Aspromonte's grand slam homer highlighted the Colts' seven-run splurge in the first inning against the Mets. Farrell singled in the fifth run with the first of his three hits and later scored on an error. The loss went to Tracy Stallard.

Tommy Harper and Pete Rose had three hits each, including homers, in the Reds' romp over the Braves and Joe Nuxhall pitched a seven-hitter. Frank Robinson also homered for Cincinnati, his first since June 6.

Hector Lopez had a two-run homer for the Yankees and also singled as they scored twice in the eighth for the clincher. Lennie Green and John Goryl homered off New York starter Jim Bouton, but Steve Hamilton preserved the young right-hander's victory with strong relief in the ninth.

Pappas, now 11-3 over the White Sox in his career, got home run support at Baltimore from Boog Powell and John Orsino.

ANGELS BOW

Dick Stuart's two-run homer and a run-scoring single by Bob Tillman in the sixth inning enabled the Red Sox to overcome the Angels.

The Indians got their winning run against the As on a wild pitch by Moe Drabowsky in the seventh inning following a walk and Woodie Held's single. Jack Kralick held Kansas City to six hits.

Retzer's decisive homer at Detroit came off Frank Lary after a walk. Don Rudolph was the Senators' winning pitcher, making it 21-4 for left-handers against the Tigers this year.

Bob Gibson became the third NL pitcher to beat every rival at least once this season with his victory over the Cubs in the only afternoon action in the majors.

In Babe Ruth Series

Evening Optimists, Renfrew Advance

Evening Optimists of Saanich and Vancouver's Renfrew Heights made the semi-finals of the B.C. Babe Ruth baseball championships last night at Royal Athletic Park as they posted 7-4 and 10-6 victories over Trail and North Shore Capilanos respectively.

Evening Optimists trailed until the top of the seventh as Trail looked as if they would make a three-run first inning stand up.

In the seventh, however, Saanich's John Knowles struck out but Roger Laberge and Blair Kubicek followed with singles. Laberge scored on a fielder's choice as Trail tried to protect their lead but Jerry Liste singled in Kubicek with the tying run.

Lister was back in the ninth as he singled with one out. He scored on a double by Don Billsborough and then pitcher Doug Hill tripled. Two errors allowed Hill and catcher Terry Orr, the next batter, to score.

Hill closed the door in the last of the ninth inning, allowing only a single to J. Bilesky, who was later picked off between second and third.

MANY MISCUES

Renfrew Heights banged 11 hits off two Capilano pitchers to gain their victory in a poorly-played ball game which featured pitching, coaching and fielding miscues.

Lions Lose Carphin With Liver Disease

VANCOUVER (UPI)—Canadian end Jim Carphin of the British Columbia Lions has been advised by his doctors to take a year off from football.

Carphin suffered an attack of infectious hepatitis in February of this year. Although his condition was serious he made a good recovery and doctors were hopeful he would be able to play this season.

But an enlarged liver condition was noted in his last medical test and doctors said any heavy blow could aggravate his condition with serious results.

Lions also announced Friday the release of Jim Smith, a guard-linebacker from Utah State University.

The Lions now have 22 imports in camp. The roster has to be trimmed to 16 imports prior to the Western Conference Football club's opener against Saskatchewan Aug. 8.

Edmonton Eskimos have sold veteran quarterback M. C. Reynolds to the Saskatchewan Roughriders. Reynolds played with Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League and Buffalo and Oakland in the American Football League. It was a straight cash deal.

Jackie Parker will be in the Toronto Argonauts lineup Tuesday night when the Argos tangle with Winnipeg Blue Bombers in Winnipeg. Parker was injured in Wednesday's exhibition game with Edmonton which Argos won, 21-20.

Toronto has placed Canadians Dale Klassen, Fred Robinson, and Roy Deeger and imports Nate Borden, Don Goodman and Sam Oates on waivers.

Edmonto also placed three players on waivers. Canadian ends Al Ackland and Alex Opalinski and import linebacker Bob Stem were put on the waiver list.

Hawkins Still Hot

CHICAGO (AP)—Long-haired Fred Hawkins continued his blazing mastery of the tricky Beverly Country Club course Friday with a three-under-par 68, giving the lean Texan from El Paso a sizzling 36-hole total of 135 at the halfway mark of the 60th Western Open Golf tournament. Hawkins opened Thursday with a pacesetting 67.

That put Hawkins—whose only official PGA triumph in 16 years was the 1956 Oklahoma City Open—four strokes ahead of a pair of rallying stars, U.S. Open Champion Julius Boros and inimitable Sam Snead, who fired 67 and 68, and consistent Bob McCallister, whose 69-70 also gave him 139.

A third star perking in the second round of the 72 - hole chase for the $10,000 top swag in the $50,000 meet was leading money winner Arnold Palmer, rebounding to a 67 after a shaky opening 73.

On the other hand, National PGA and Masters champ, Jack Nicklaus, slumped to 76 after a 69 and fell to a one-over-par 143.

Boston Signs Bob Turley

BOSTON (AP)—Bob Turley, 32, six years ago the outstanding pitcher in the major leagues and a week ago given his outright release by Los Angeles Angels, has been signed by Boston Red Sox of the American League.

Barbados Bowler Cuts Down England

LEEDS, England (Reuters)—Charlie Griffith, 24 - year - old Barbados fast bowler, put the West Indies well on the way to victory against England with a magnificent spell here Friday on the second day of their fourth Test.

Griffith shattered England's innings on an easy-paced pitch with four wickets for six runs in his first 40 balls.

England, replying to West Indies first innings of 397, were 34 for five after 60 minutes batting and later 93 for eight.

Then a fighting ninth-wicket stand between Freddie Titmus, 31 not out, and Tony Lock, 51 not out, took the total to 189 for eight at the close.

England thus needs another 29 runs to avoid the follow-on. But their chances of avoiding defeat in the five-day match seem remote and the West Indies seem certain to enter the fifth and final match in the series one up.

With B.C. Swimmers

Sherry Shares Limelight

MONTREAL (CP) — Dan Sherry, a burly 17-year-old swimmer from Hamilton, took over from B.C.'s Sandy Gilchrist as the centre of attention at the Canadian swimming and diving championships Friday night by winning the 100-metre butterfly race in a sizzling 59.3 seconds.

Sherry's time took almost three seconds from the Canadian record and brought him within hailing distance of the world mark of 57 seconds.

Sherry had won his heat earlier in one minute flat, breaking the record of 1:02.2 held by Vancouver's Aldy Meinhardt.

Ten minutes after Sherry surged to a 45-foot victory in the night's final over Meinhardt, whose time of 1:02.2 equalled his old record, he swam the butterfly leg on his club's relay team in 59.6.

Gilchrist started the evening off by winning the 400-metre freestyle in a Canadian record time of 4:26.0. He had held the previous record of 4:29.1.

It was the fourth win and the fourth Canadian record for the powerfully-built, bespectacled 17-year-old from the tiny pulp and paper town of Ocean Falls, B.C.

Vancouver's Lynn Pomfret, a pretty muscle-packed 15-year-old brunette, set her second Canadian record of the meet in the women's 400-metre free-style. She did 5:03.5, bettering her old mark by a second.

Mary Stewart of Vancouver won the women's 100-metre butterfly in a surprisingly fast time of 1:08.1, only four fifths of a second above her world record of 1:07.3.

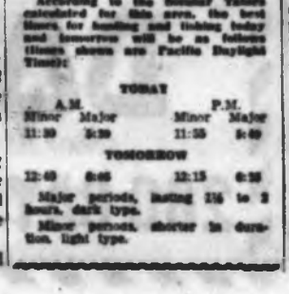

MISSES RECORD

Montreal's Steve Rabinovitch won by 15 yards in the 200-metre backstroke. His time was 2:43.3, almost two seconds above his Canadian record.

Joey Weir of Toronto won the women's 100-metre backstroke.

A strong relay team from Montreal Amateur Athletic Association won the men's club relay. The butterfly leg by Mary Stewart enabled the Dolphins club to win the women's club relay.

In diving events, blonde Linda Skelly of Toronto's Etobicoke Memorial Club and Jim Lambie of Leaside Aquatic Club in Toronto, fourth-place finisher in the men's one-metre diving Thursday, each won easily in the girls' and boys' 16-and-under three-metre competition.

Cornwall Likely Site

Birthplace of Lacrosse May Host Mann Cup

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP)—The search for a site for the 1963 Mann Cup lacrosse final may finally be over.

Two Canadian Lacrosse Association officials seem satisfied that Cornwall—a city of 44,000 that calls itself the birthplace of lacrosse but doesn't have a team contending for the cup—is a logical spot to hold the series.

Gerry Johnson, CLA secretary, and Wally Cattel, immediate past president, said they were more than satisfied with the enthusiasm shown by Eastern Lacrosse Association officials in a meeting here.

This year should have been western Canada's turn to stage the national senior championships, but western teams, who have dominated lacrosse in recent years wanted it held in the East again to stimulate interest here.

COULDN'T RAISE BOND

The catch was none of the Ontario Lacrosse Association teams could raise the $10,000 bond the CLA requires to guarantee the finalists' expenses.

Cornwall lacrosse officials are confident they can line up a promoter who will post the bond.

If the deal goes through it will be the first time the Canadian championship has ever been held in Cornwall. Records show the game was played here as far back as 1836, and Cornwall Island—a Mohawk Indian reserve five miles south of here—boasts the world's only lacrosse stick factory.

CLA secretary Gerry Johnson, speaking for president Merv Ferguson of Vancouver, announced the first four games in the best-of-seven series will be played Sept. 17, 19, 21 and 22. If more games are needed they will be played Sept. 24, 26 and 28.

The Cornwall Arena, where the series will be played, seats 3,500.

Golf Girls Off Today For Series

VANCOUVER (UPI) — Six Canadian women golfers, including Canadian open and closed champion Mrs. Marlene Stewart Streit, leave here today to represent Canada in the Commonwealth team matches Aug. 8-10 in Melbourne, Australia.

With Mrs. Streit, the tiny Fonthill, Ont., veteran who has won more Canadian championships than any other woman, will be 19-year-old Gayle Hitchens of Vancouver, who won the Canadian Open last year, Mrs. Judy Darling Evans of Montreal, Mrs. Betty Stanhope Cole of Edmonton, Rae Milligan of Toronto, and non-playing captain Mrs. Margaret Todd of Victoria.

The Commonwealth matches are held every four years, matching Britain, Canada, New Zealand and Australia.

Canada was third in the last competition, held in Britain in 1959. The competition is a round-robin match play affair.

Following the Melbourne matches the Canadian team will play in the Australian National Championship, Aug. 19-24 at Sydney, and the New Zealand Amateur in Auckland, Sept. 5-11.

Mamie Not Bitter About Belinsky

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Just say I'm through with men. They're bad for me and I'm bad for them."

Other than that, Mamie Van Doren claims she's not the least bit bitter about her busted romance with Bo Belinsky, the Richard Burton of baseball.

The blonde sexpot is back home for the first time since Bo announced he had balked at matrimony with Mamie.

"The first I knew about it was when I read it in the papers," says Mamie. "Bo announced the engagement. I guess he had the right to denounce it."

Mamie, unlike some other Hollywood queens, returned the engagement ring.

"I somehow got the feeling," she says, "that if I didn't, he might have cut off my finger, or, worse, made me take over the payments."

Since leaving Mamie, Bo is back pitching—baseballs, not woo: He finally reported to Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League where he was demoted by Los Angeles Angels of the American League.

"If Bo could only pitch strikes like he pitches woo, the Angels would have been in first place by now," says Mamie. "I think we got engaged after our first date, know what I mean?"

"Bo just couldn't keep his mind on me and baseball at the same time. Once he thought he spotted my blonde hair in the stands. He turned around and threw the ball there. Only no one was there—no first baseman, no me.

"Fortunately, no one was on base at the time."

Definitely shelved is a movie, Pirate Woman, co-starring Mamie and Bo.

"Bo was to play a swashbuckler pirate. He's got kind of an Errol Flynn flair about him. That's his trouble."

Mexico Wins Opening Singles Leads Davis Cup Series, 2-0

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mexico took two opening singles matches Friday afternoon and threatened a sweep over Canada in their best-of-five Davis Cup series.

In the day's opening match, Rafael Osuna of Mexico defeated Canada's No. 2 man Francois Godbout of Waterloo, Que., in straight sets 6-3, 6-1 and 6-2.

Then Antonio Palafox came on to whip Harry Fauquier of Toronto, also in straight sets, 9-7, 6-4 and 6-1.

Mexico could clinch the series and enter the second round of the American-zone play with a victory in the doubles match today.

Mexico's doubles team will be the same pair, Osuna and Palafox, who this month took the unofficial world doubles championship at Wimbledon.

Canada was to use Keith Carpenter of Montreal and Fauquier. Godbout was suffering from a foot ailment but team captain Jim Macken said Godbout lost his place on the team due to Fauquier's great play Friday afternoon.

FOOT BOTHERS

Godbout said the chronic condition flared up Thursday and bothered him during his match with Osuna.

If the doubles match is won by Mexico, the two singles matches still will be played but will only be a formality.

Fauquier waged a tremendous battle with Palafox through the first two sets. In the opening set each held his service until Palafox double-faulted and Fauquier made a breakthrough to lead 5-3. Palafox in turn broke the Canadian's service and the 20-year-old Toronto player found his lead gone and the set tied 5-5.

He came back to lead 6-5, and pushed Palafox to match point before two returns caught the net and the set was back even, this time 6-6.

This proved to be the turning point. Palafox took over, broke Fauquier's service with a cross-court overhand drive to lead 8-7 and won five straight points on his own serve to take the set 9-7.

Palafox had less trouble in the second set, breaking through at the ninth game to pushed to the baseline, his fine pushed to the baseline, hi sfine backhand losing its accuracy.

Fauquier won the first game of the third set, but Palafox took the next five, acing the Canadian with many of his flashing serves.

OSUNA FASTER

Their match took 90 minutes, but Osuna was able to finish off Godbout in just over an hour.

The Canadian played with spectacles, having lost his contact lenses Friday morning.

He made only one serious threat to beat off Osuna's pressure. Trailing 4-1 in the opening set, his forehand placements won one game and a skilful stop half-volley won another.

It was 3-4 and Godbout went back to the strategy he carried into the match—to hold Osuna at the baseline with overspin lobs and prevent the Mexican from moving to the net.

With Osuna serving at deuce in the next game, Godbout just missed the sideline with a placement and shafted a forehand far out of court.

It was 5-3 Osuna and he broke Godbout's service, cleaning up the set with two blazing placements.

After a split of the first two games in the second set, Godbout's service lost the last vestige of sting, and he drove ground shots and volleys alike into the net, losing five straight games.

It was 2-0 for Osuna in the third set before Godbout again showed signs of a comeback. His service held up to take the third game and it was 40-15 in the fourth before Godbout sent three consecutive passing shots over the baseline.

Each player won the other's service in the next pair of games before another high, wild smash by Godbout gave Osuna his fifth game. Osuna moved deftly to match point and a 6-2 victory, Godbout finally missing a cross-court placement.

THE Arnold PALMER METHOD

AN AID IN TURNING

It is very important in the golf swing that the player's left side turn to the left on the downswing so that the hands and arms can pass through the hitting area unimpeded.

Golfers who have a problem clearing their left side in this manner can ease the problem by a simple change in their address position. Merely position your left foot so that your toe points somewhat toward the target (illustration #1).

You will find that positioning the left foot in this manner makes it much easier to turn your left side on the downswing (illustration #2) so that your right side and leg can move freely through the ball on the follow-through (illustration #3).

Mine Off Clover Point Practice Type Says Navy

A British-made mine, which may have been drifting for years throughout the Pacific Ocean, was spotted about a quarter of a mile off Clover Point last night by an RCMP police boat.

A four-man navy demolition squad under the command of Lt.-Cmdr. Ward Palmer went to investigate the mine and found it to be of a practice type, containing no explosives.

A navy spokesman said the mine might be a relic of the Second World War or even earlier. He said it was 40 inches in diameter and was of the "moored mine" type.

It was towed to Esquimalt Harbor by the demolition squad and will be dismantled there today.

Companies Score Sealed Offer

Fish Strike Talks Break Off To End Day of Conciliation

Fishermen's strike settlement talks broke off in their first day Friday after union representatives handed a conciliation officer a sealed envelope which they said contained the union's "final, rock bottom" offer.

The B.C. government had initiated the short-lived attempt to get representatives of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (Ind.) and the Fisheries Association of B.C., representing companies, together in Vancouver with chief conciliation officer Reg Clements.

About 10,000 B.C. net fishermen and shore workers, including about 250 to 300 Victoria people, are on strike. The strike enters its 13th day today.

The association Friday branded the union's handing of the sealed envelope to Mr. Clements as an attempt to force companies to accept the offer "sight unseen."

ANSWER TO COMPANIES

The union later said the sealed envelope could only be opened when the companies agreed to "withdraw their double-barreled threat that either our members must vote to accept their offer of July 16 or there would be no season."

A union spokesman said since the companies had only repeated their July 16 offer at Friday's meeting, it is unlikely the envelope will be opened.

Labor Minister Peterson later said in Victoria the facilities of the labor department remain open to the parties in the dispute, if they need them.

Attorney-General Bonner Friday said B.C. may have to pass special legislation to prevent further tieups by strikes of the B.C. fishing industry.

FEDERAL MATTER

He said he had assumed at the outset of the strike that the federal government, responsible for fisheries legislation under the British-North America Act, would take some responsibility. He was disappointed they had not.

He said marketing controls are one way B.C. might try to control the situation. The fruit, vegetable and milk industries are controlled by marketing boards in B.C., which establish fixed prices.

Richter Opens Abattoir

Vancouver Island's first licensed slaughterhouse was officially opened at View Royal by B.C. Agriculture Minister Frank Richter Friday. Van Isle Meat Packers have been operating fully for about a month, and there has been government meat inspection there on a makeshift basis since last April, a spokesman for the abattoir said last night.

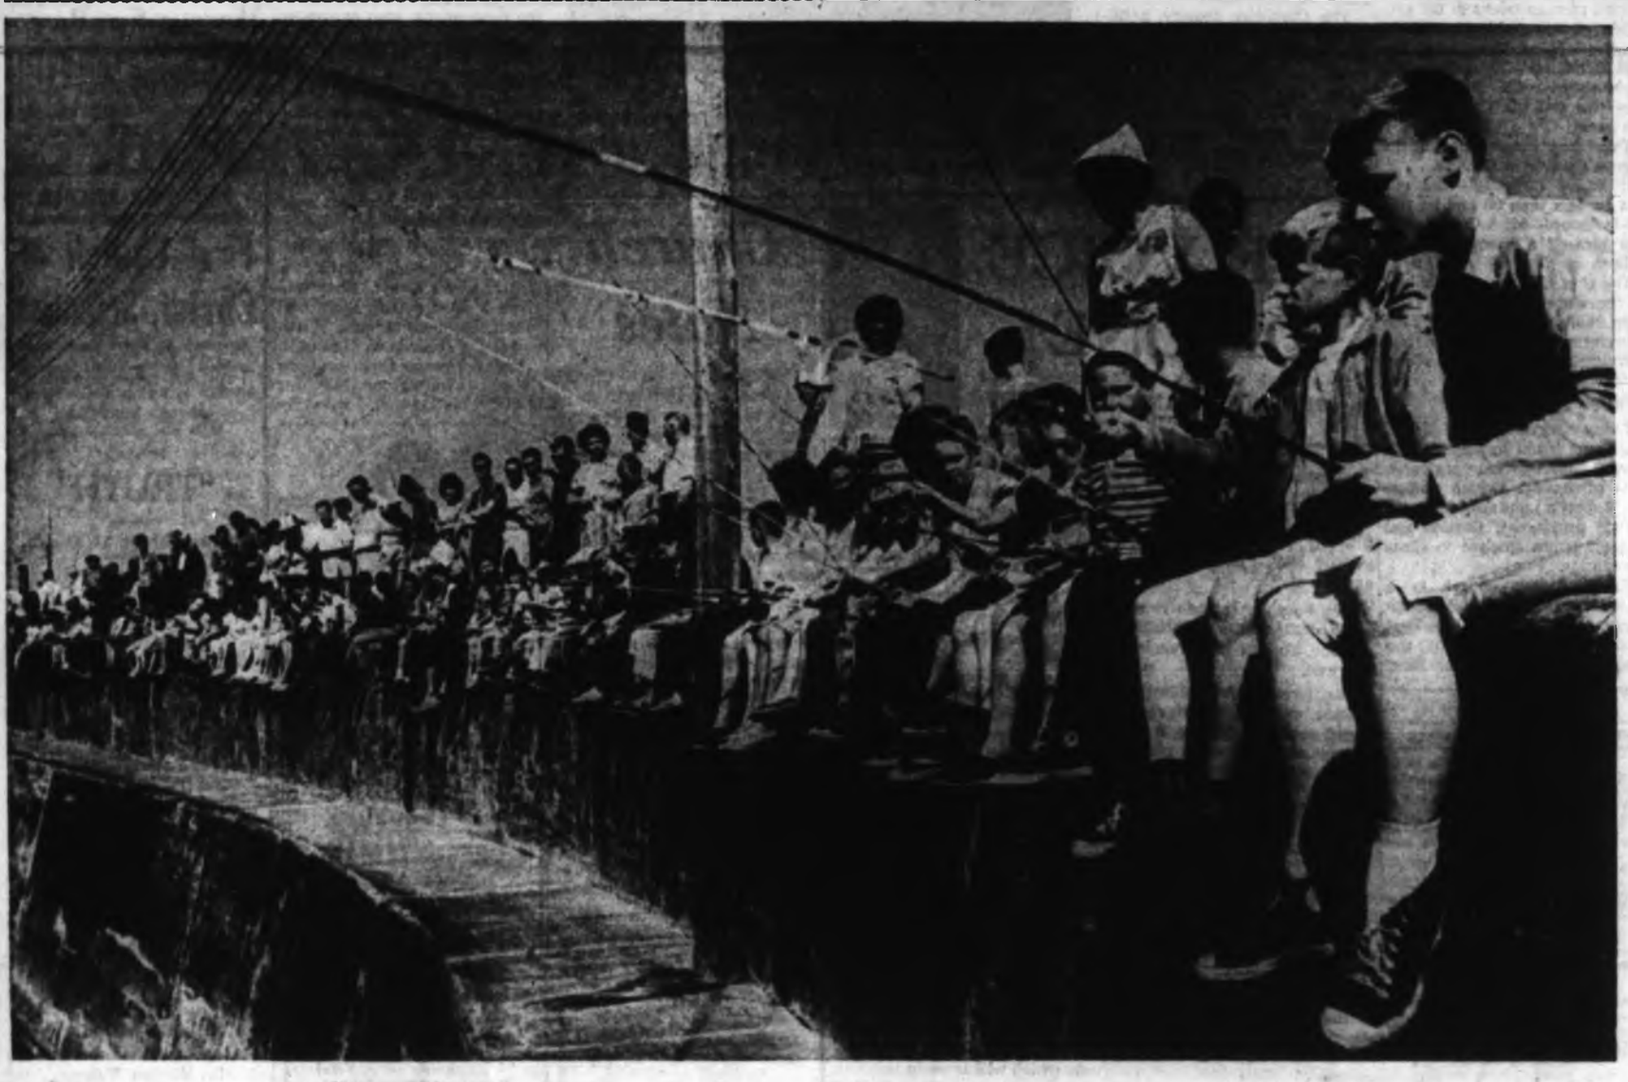

During the opening ceremonies a carcass of beef was examined by inspectors of the B.C. and federal agriculture departments, including Roy Ketcheson, who will be stationed permanently at the abattoir as B.C. government meat inspector.

Official opening of the abattoir is the latest in a series of moves aimed to deal with the meat inspection problem, following concern over the sale of uninspected meat in Victoria stores.

ALL MEAT CHECKED

The abattoir spokesman said all meat slaughtered for sale for human consumption now must be killed at the Van Isle slaughterhouse, or killed and brought to that abattoir for inspection.

He said the abattoir can kill 30 head of cattle a day, and has 7,000 cubic feet of cold and freezer storage space and a sewage system which could handle a community of 2,700 persons.

Breakwater Derby Hits Peak

* * * * * *

Oooh! What is it? Lynne Evans, 1676 Derby, wonders—and so does bystander. Hooked flounder was just one of many shapes and sizes of fish weighed in at playground derby Friday. All youngsters who caught fish won prizes.—(Ryan Bros.)

Ogden Point Breakwater took on the look of a giant porcupine yesterday as fishing rods bristled from practically every square foot of space.

Reason for all the activity was the 12th annual children's derby of the city's summer playground program, sponsored by the T. Eaton Company of Victoria.

Derby started at 1 p.m., and by 3 p.m. officials had counted 2,450 children through the gate to the breakwater.

Parents Along

Many parents accompanied the children and made a family outing of the youngsters' big day.

Hot sun poured down on the children as they combed the still water for the "big ones."

Almost every known lure and many unknown, were used, as plugs, spoons, minnows, worms and breadcrusts splashed into the water from one end of the breakwater to the other.

Many fish were caught from bullheads to bass, with the biggest a 2:3-pound bass caught by Ian Rossiter, 1331 Esquimalt Road.

In 20 Minutes

The youngster caught the winner 20 minutes after the derby started and won a bicycle as first prize.

Second prize of a skin-diving outfit went to Cindy MacDonald, 654 Pine, with a 1:8-pound rock cod.

Miss MacDonald caught her fish 10 minutes before the close of the derby at 4 p.m.

Third prize of a rod and reel went to Wendel Reilander, who was not there at the finish, but can pick his prize up at the T. Eaton Company.

Close Watch

A close eye was kept on the young anglers, with 20 city playground supervisors scattered along the breakwater.

One youngster was seen walking along the breakwater with a fishing spoon hooked to the seat of his pants.

Asked if he hooked it there when casting, his reply was "Heck no, I tore my pants and I had to have something to hold them together."

At one spot, a mother was swimming around the kelp patch retreating errant lures for the children..

"This is one of the best attended derbies since they were started 12 years ago and things went very well," said Gordon Hartley, playgrounds supervisor.

City Naval Man Gets Promotion

Lt.-Cmdr. Donald Sabiston, 1739 Townley, has been promoted to the rank of commander on his appointment as officer-in-charge of academic division of Fleet School at HMCS Naden, following completion of course at RCAF Staff College in Toronto.

Construction Company Target of Thieves

Thieves stole nearly $350 worth of equipment, unemployment insurance stamps and cash from the Midland Construction Company, 728 Herald, early Friday, city police said last night.

Stolen were a $150 cheque protector, $70 worth of unemployment insurance stamps and $24 in cash.

Police said entrance was gained through an insecure window.

Port Alberni

Mill Expansion To Provide 150 More Jobs

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Another $15,000,000 plant expansion at Port Alberni, announced Friday night by J. V. Clyne, chairman of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd., will bring more than 150 new permanent jobs to the valley, and work for 250 construction men for the next 18 months.

Mr. Clyne said the company had completed its engineering planning for expansion of the pulp and logging facilities at Port Alberni. Construction is to start immediately.

The expansion will increase the company's pulp production by 70,000 tons of unbleached sulphate pulp a year.

The present pulp capacity of the MacMillan company is 360,000 tons a year, and the current $40,000,000 expansion at Harmac will create a further 150,000-tons-a-year capacity by the end of 1963.

500,000 TONS

Mr. Clyne said when the present pulp expansion program of $85,000,000 is completed in 1964, the company's pulp capacity of all types would be 580,000 tons a year.

The new jobs in Port Alberni, as a result of the newly-announced expansion, would include 55 in the mill and 100 in related logging and woods operations.

MacMillan will also increase its purchases of logs from independent loggers as a result of increased requirements of the expanded pulp mill.

The new installation will include a continuous digester, lime kilns, modification to present pulp drier to increase capacity and a black liquor oxygenization unit and precipitator.

Mr. Clyne said the company was in a unique position to expand its pulp capacity at Port Alberni with the maximum economy because the required pulp drying facilities were already in existence.

As a result of the expansion the company will produce new grades of unbleached pulps and plans are in progress to do so.

Mr. Clyne said that since 1951 the company has made capital investments in plants and operations of $350,000,000.

Now under construction is a $40,000,000 expansion at Harmac, a $23,000,000 newsprint expansion at Port Alberni, and a $7,000,000 modernization at Powell River.

Tourists Scalped

Complimentary tickets to the Chinatown Oriental Museum are being illegally sold to tourists, a spokesman for the museum said last night.

The spokesman said tickets to the museum may be sold only at the box office, and warned people against buying tickets from anyone else.

Ferry Profit Slips

The B.C. government ferry service nearly doubled its revenue last year but watched its profit slip by 40 percent.

* * *

Ferry revenues soared to $9,847,527 for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1963—up from $5,300,000 the previous year.

Profits fell to $436,150 from a previous year's figure of $775,000.

* * *

The figures showed up in the government's financial and economic review published yesterday.

They told a story of operating costs rising faster than gross revenues.

The reason: Rapid expansion and more frequent service.

Starting with two vessels in 1960, the service has blossomed to a 19-ship fleet in operation or under construction.

The inaugural staff of 250 has swollen to 1,250.

During the year the ferry service carried 2,800,000 passengers and nearly 1,000,000 vehicles.

* * *

The system's capital structure last year benefited from a $5,800,000 federal windfall in the form of the Canada ship construction subsidy.

The B.C. Toll Authority, of which the ferry system is a part, showed a net profit of $751,055 which grows to an overall surplus of $3,100,000 when provincial subsidies and sinking fund earnings are added.

Congress in Toronto

Anglicans Map Future Soon

By RON POULTON

TORONTO (TNS) — Planning for the Anglican Congress in Toronto Aug. 13-23 began in 1959 and was accelerated with the opening of a fulltime office in 1961.

Yet, the loose-knit nature of the Anglican Commission around the world has forced planners to explain why a congress has to be called at all.

ONLY TWO OTHERS

To the Anglican world it is as important as the Ecumenical is to Rome. Only two others have been held in the history of the church: in London in 1908 and in Minneapolis in 1953.

It is needed because: the Anglican church has no world government; the Lambeth Conferences of bishops, held once every 10 years, are too infrequent; the problems of the church in one country are not often realized in another.

Head of the 1963 planning committee, Rt. Rev. Ralph Dean, Bishop of Cariboo, says: "The church is in a different position, the whole world is different, and the church has to be different if it is to maintain any kind of relevance with the new world in which we live."

ALL NOT WELL

In a pre-congress report, he added: "We tried to realize that all was not well in the Anglican Communion, that we sometimes spoke with more confidence and more arrogance even than our five per cent membership in the total Christian world entitled us to do."

The congress is not a legislative body to write rules for a world-wide family of churches.

FOUR ARCHBISHOPS

History and geography have played strange tricks in the evolution of the Anglican church, not the least of them being the fact that Canada has four active archbishops while England has only two and the United States has none.

Time has even changed the church's name in Canada.

It is old fashioned—and one can be less than 50 and be this old-fashioned—for a Canadian to call himself a member of the Church of England.

The C of E has gone as surely as the state grants which once supported it. The Anglican church in Canada stands, still marking allegiance to the see of Canterbury.

ACROSS NATION

Today there are 1,358,861 Anglicans listed in Canada's 28 dioceses through four ecclesiastical provinces: British Columbia, Rupert's Land (including the prairie provinces), Ontario and Canada (from Quebec to Newfoundland).

The Canadian church is a senior member of the Anglican Communion. It had the first bishop consecrated for the church outside England: Rev. Charles Inglis, Aug. 12, 1787. The first synod in the empire overseas was convened by Bishop Strachan in 1853.

The first recorded services in North America were conducted by Martin Frobisher's chaplain in 1578. Permanent church work began in Nova Scotia in 1710.

Groups Hope To Triple Bible Sales

Bible Societies all over the world have launched a plan to triple Bible sales over the next three years, the Canadian Bible Society says.

The Canadian society, affiliated with the British and Foreign Bible Society, expects to take an active part in the drive, and the B.C. division plans to contribute more than $100,000 toward the translating and printing of scripture.

Holding old Dutch flag which will be returned soon to South Africa is Frank Heaton, 5217 Beckton Road.—(Bud Kinsman)

Family's Bible Flag Return To South Africa

By JACK FRY

Saanich welfare administrator Frank Heaton made a Dutch family in South Africa happy by returning a priceless heirloom—a Bible printed in the 1700s—which was taken as a souvenir during the Boer War.

Mr. Heaton, along with Holland-born Saanich police Const. John Post, a member of of parliament and a foreign ambassador, co-operated in tracking down a great-grandson of the original owner.

BIBLE RETURNED

The Bible now is in the hands of P. P. Hugo of the farm Ebenhaeser at Sherborne, in Cape Province, South Africa, the descendant, who expressed his "sincere thanks and appreciation for returning the Bible."

Mr. Heaton's grandfather found the old Bible in an abandoned farm house during the Boer War. He brought it back as a souvenir, along with a Republican flag.

RECORDS IN IT

Both objects stayed in the Heaton household until recently, when Const. Post was given a look at the Bible and found some marriage, birth and death records written in it.

Frank Heaton then wrote to George Chatterton, MP for Esquimalt-Saanich, who in turn notified the South African ambassador in Ottawa.

Eventually, the right owner was tracked down and the Bible returned.

The archives in the national museum in Bloemfontein, South Africa, showed interest in the Republican flag and Mr. Heaton said last night he will send it there soon.

Masses Sunday

St. Nicholas Ukrainian Catholic Church will hold high mass with a Ukrainian sermon at 10 a.m. Sunday and low mass with English sermon at 8:30 a.m.

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

Since this is a world which crucified Christ, poisoned Socrates, killed Cicero, burned Tyndale and exalted its base and cruel men, it is not surprising though it is a ghastly commentary on the Profumo case that many people say, "Such things have always gone on so let's accept it."

Such easy acceptance reveals moral deficiency and social decadence. To love good, one must hate evil.

This irresponsibility in high position and the lie which betrayed public confidence in their leaders and institutions placard before the world the appalling question "Can democracy survive?"

Vital to Survival

Survival depends on moral and spiritual strength, but here we have a vacuum. Materialistic and mechanistic theories of the universe have not been confined to Communism.

Language has been degraded by the false axiom "there can never be in grammar an error that is both very bad and very common."

Our amorality is demonstrated by our small concern over Canada's unemployment rate, highest among industrialized nations, though unemployment destroys self-respect and mutilates personality.

Has our currency devaluation no moral significance? The Bible repeatedly condemns currency adulteration. The decline of the Roman Empire was concurrent with currency depreciation.

Every decision a businessman makes is ethical and religious because it deals with human beings who are neither things nor animals but centres of ultimate value, unique creations of infinite potential.

Yet politically a purely scientific approach is taken to man and in business he is regarded merely as a means to profit—as Coolidge said, "The business of America is business," an attitude which will issue in horrible consequences as Communism has shown us.

Essential Belief

The basic problem of life is meaninglessness. That man's life and human history have eternal meaning may be difficult conclusions but they are essential assumptions.

We need a faith which will exhibit compassion for the needy, find new ways to stab the moral nerve of mankind, face the problems of an automated society—the problems of leisure, the aged, population explosion, population mobility, impersonal corporations, and concentrations of monopolistic power with the resultant loss of human dignity.

But more necessary is a faith to lift the vision of men beyond the turbulence of revolutionary electronic technology, cultural and racial upheaval, the devil's urging to nuclear holocaust, to glimpse the realm of God's justice, the potential world of peace and creative joy.

For Children

Make Peace With Selves Parents Told

To achieve good relations with your teen-age children, achieve good relations with yourself, a Portland, Ore., clergyman told members of the Oak Bay Kiwanis Club here.

Dr. William Graham, minister of the Church of Truth in Portland, said teen-agers' biggest problem is their parents.

YOUNGSTERS AFRAID

He said teen-agers often are afraid to ask their parents for guidance "not so much because they are afraid of their parents but because they see so much unhappiness in the home."

If a parent puts his own mind in order, he will "reach a point where teen-agers will willingly come to him for guidance, because they will see a different attitude in him."

Church Notes

Centennial United Church will conduct the fifth in a series of summer Sunday evening gospel services in the Beacon Hill Park bandshell at 7 p.m.

Dr. S. J. Parsons, minister of the church, will deliver the sermon. There will also be solo and instrumental numbers.

★ ★ ★

Catherine MacMillan of Toronto will wind up a lecture tour of various points on the mainland and Vancouver Island with a talk on the Baha'i faith at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday in the Dominion Room of the Dominion Hotel.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Virginia Weimar, research scientist from Portland, Ore., will discuss Truth in Action at the 7:30 p.m. Sunday service at the Victoria Truth Centre.

Mr. and Mrs. Reemeyer Married in Vancouver

Of interest in Victoria is the marriage last evening of Eleanor Jean Eilers and Mr. Bart Peter Reemeyer which took place in Canadian Memorial United Church, Vancouver. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eilers, Langford Lake, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bart Reemeyer of West Vancouver.

Rev. T. T. Oliver officiated at the double-ring ceremony and Hugh McLean was organist. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to Clarke's Trumpet Voluntary.

* * *

The wedding gown was of candlelight peau de faille and imported Guipure lace. The fitted basque bodice was styled with portrait neckline edged with flowerlets of lace. Lace touched with seed pearls formed a slim front panel. Her lacy mantilla veil flowed to the hemline of her elegant train. Gardenias and ivy were in her bouquet.

Mrs. W. L. McEwen, the bride's sister from Ottawa, and bridesmaid Miss Margaretha Reemeyer, the groom's sister, were in gowns of candlelight peau de faille also. They were styled with lace applique, bateau necklines and short crinolined skirts.

* * *

Fresh gardenia leaves and ivy were in their bouquets and dainty matching headdresses and shoes completed their outfits.

Mr. John Reemeyer was best man for his brother and William Eilers, John Greening, Robert Spring and Barry Kerslake ushered guests to the pews.

* * *

At a reception held at the Marine Drive Golf Club, Mr. J. C. Nimmo of Langford Lake proposed the toast to the bride.

Leaving on a cruise of B.C. coastal waters, the bride changed to a delphinium blue silk sheath with matching opera coat and white and blue hat. Accessories were white. Mr. and Mrs. Reemeyer will make their home in Vancouver.

Miss Roberta Weber, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Weber, this year won the Miss Campbell River title. She will later contest Miss PNE. Miss Weber was awarded a trophy from the Province and one from the Canadian Legion, as well as $500 worth of presents from local merchants.—(The Baldwins)

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband has a handle bar moustache of which he is very proud. He keeps it neat and enjoys it because people who never noticed him before notice him now.

The trouble is his moustache has given me a rash under my nose and on my chin. The itching drives me crazy and the doctor says I will have the rash as long as my husband has the moustache — unless I stay away from him.

Also, the wax my husband uses on his moustache has a sickeningly sweet odor which nauseates me. I am not the nagging type. I mention things once and that's the limit. He knows the problem and shows no sign of doing anything about it. Yesterday he casually announced that he has no intention of cutting off his moustache when the centennial is over.

I would appreciate any suggestions you might have. — TICKLED BUT NOT LAUGHING.

Dear Tickled: Ask your doctor to phone or write a note to your husband explaining the situation. Then tell your husband you are willing to compromise and remain friendly until after the centennial. If he doesn't cut the moustache off after the celebration tell him he can choose between his moustache and your kisses.

Dear Ann Landers: Our son is 16 years old, a fine student and an obedient, respectful boy. After dinner last night his young friend who is exactly the same age came over to the house. I could see quite promptly that the young friend (whom I will call Doug) had been drinking. He was talking louder than usual, slurring his words and behaving in a generally unco-ordinated manner.

I came right out and asked Doug if he had something alcoholic. He proudly replied, "Yes, my father always offers me a highball when he has one. Tonight I had several." My husband and I were dumbfounded. Then he added, nonchalantly, "On the way over here I almost fell off my bicycle."

My husband believes we should order our son to break off his friendship with Doug before he picks up some bad habits. Your views are invited. — MAPLE LEAF MOTHER.

Dear Mother: Don't order your son to break off his friendship with Doug. He may then feel compelled, out of a sense of loyalty, to defend his buddy and stick with him.

Just keep impressing on your son that you have faith in his integrity and good judgment. Let him know you are confident that he will never disappoint you. Teenagers have a truly magnificent way of living up to their parents' high opinion of them.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: The other evening my mother-in-law and I attended a civic banquet. At this particular affair there were six women seated at the speaker's table.

After the dessert my mother-in-law, who is up in years, called my attention to the fact that five of the six women at the speaker's table had very poor manners. Why? Because they "painted their faces in public."

For years I have powdered my nose and applied fresh lipstick while at the table. Is this wrong? Sometimes the ladies' room is half a block away, or on a different floor. Will you comment please? No doubt others would like to hear your answer.—W.T.L.

Dear W.T.L.: It is in perfectly good taste for a woman to powder her nose and apply lipstick at the table. Hair-combing is out, of course, and so is eye-lash curling, eye-lining, fingernail repair work, and other little beauty tricks which should be reserved for the boudoir — or the ladies' room.

American buyers in Paris say French designer Jacques Heim's long-skirt "Bombshell" is a dud, after attending the fall-winter fashion showing. "Women never will buy them, not this year anyway," said one buyer. Shown is an afternoon suit in brown velvet, with brief bolero, bonnet and knee-high boots in baby ocelot.

Pact with Wicked Reds Opposed by Churchmen

MONTREAL (CP)—The executive council of the International Council of Christian Churches in a statement Friday said it "warns the free world against accepting any test-ban treaty with the Russians."

The brief statement of the council, meeting in Montreal, added two passages from the Scriptures:

"Psalm 28:3—'Draw me not away with the wicked and with the workers of iniquity which speak peace to their neighbors but mischief is in their hearts.'

"Proverbs 21:10—'The soul of the wicked desireth evil. His neighbor findeth no favor in his eyes'."

Nikita:

NATO-East Pact Next

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev, a partial nuclear test-ban treaty initialled, called on the West Friday to press ahead with negotiations for a non-aggression pact between NATO and the Communist bloc.

He called the test treaty a step toward ending cold war tensions, adding that Britain and the United States had agreed in the talks to negotiations on the non-aggression question.

LAOS PARLEY

Khrushchev's views were released to the newspapers Pravda and Izvestia as he conferred in the Kremlin with State Undersecretary W. Averell Harriman on the thorny problem of Laos. The United States wants Khrushchev to use his influence to get the fighting stopped in that Communist-threatened Southeast Asian kingdom.

Their talk went on so long that it ended only when the two moved over to a banquet Khrushchev gave in honor of Harriman and the British nuclear negotiator, Lord Hailsham, science minister.

No details of the talk on Laos were disclosed.

While Harriman was at the Kremlin, Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko gave the Soviet Union's chief European allies a fill-in on the talks. Leaders from all the eastern European Warsaw Pact powers have been here for an economic meeting.

Tass news agency reported they all approved of what was accomplished.

PEKING DISAGREES

Communist China, however, did not. A Radio Peking broadcast assailed the treaty and hinted that China would have its own nuclear weapons in the not too distant future.

Khrushchev himself called the treaty an event of "great international importance," a view voiced earlier by Harriman.

BREAKTHROUGH

Khrushchev, in his interview with the two main Soviet newspapers, hailed the treaty banning all but underground nuclear tests as a breakthrough in East-West relations.

"As a result of the agreement on the prohibition of nuclear weapon tests," he declared, "favorable opportunities have arisen enabling progress to be made in the solution of fundamental international problems."

Red China Certain It Will Join 'Club'

TOKYO (UPI)—Communist China expressed confidence Friday it will "master" nuclear weaponry in the "not too distant future" and accused Russia of bartering away Communist interests by signing the test ban treaty with the west.

The conviction that China will soon join the nuclear club was voiced by a top Chinese Communist official who made it plain that Peking would not be bound by the partial test ban treaty initialed in Moscow by the Soviet Union, Britain and the United States.

SPOKE AT RALLY

The official, Kuo Mo-Jo, vice-chairman of the standing committee of the National People's Congress, spoke at a Peking rally marking the 10th anniversary of the Korean armistice. Excerpts of his speech were broadcast by the Red New China News agency and monitored in Tokyo.

Although he did not mention the test ban treaty directly, he made it plain he was referring to the pact when he accused Moscow of "trying to barter away the interests of the revolution of the world's people in a bargain with the imperialists."

PROPAGANDA

In another obvious reference to the Soviets, Kuo said "There are some self-styled Marxist-Leninists who energetically make propaganda for the U.S. imperialist policy of nuclear blackmail in order to intimidate the (Communist) people of the world. "According to them, it seems as if the (Communists) had no choice but to kneel down humbly and place themselves at the mercy of the U.S. imperialists since the latter have so-called nuclear teeth," Kuo added.

Dragnet in Caracas

More Convicts Captured

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—A dragnet pressed by hundreds of police and National Guardsmen Friday night netted 16 more convicts who escaped from La Planta Prison in a mass breakout officials said was staged by pro-Castro Communists.

Sixty-six convicts — some of them convicted terrorists—remained at large.

By official count seven were killed and 53 wounded in the gun battle at the prison Thursday. Unofficial reports put the death toll at 12. The dead include a lawyer felled by a bullet as he watched the battle from a window.

Police and national guard troops combed the capital and its vicinity Friday but managed to nab only two of the escapees. A total of 102 broke out but 16 were captured several hours later.

HAD TOUGH TASK

Authorities had a tough task trying to round up the convicts. Many of them were clad in police uniforms and armed with stolen automatic weapons.

Coinciding with the breakout, three police posts were attacked Thursday night and early Friday. Police attributed the attacks to pro-Castro groups marking the anniversary of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's 26th of July movement.

The situation was so tense the accidental discharge of an automatic weapon by a policeman set off an exchange between two police groups hunting the prisoners.

Police estimate 200 prisoners took part in the break at noon Thursday.

German Health Spa Water Fatal

FUESING, Germany (UPI)—The Fuessen hot spring swimming pool was closed Friday because medical experts said the healing waters of this spa may have killed four men and paralyzed another.

The district government of lower Bavaria said it felt compelled to order the pool closed because the owners did not comply with health regulations.

"While the thermal springs have cured thousands who could not be helped in hospitals and sanatoriums," Dr. Herbert Kammermaier of the district health authority said, "the Fuessing waters are very aggressive."

He said nobody, especially persons recovering from illness, should bathe longer than 20 minutes in the Fuessing waters.

B.C. Road Test

Mounties Using Unmarked Cars

Experiments with unmarked cars to be used in the fight against an alarming increase in traffic accidents on B.C. highways are being carried out by the RCMP, Supt. W. H. Nevin said Thursday.

He did not say how many cars were being used, but said there is always disagreement among traffic authorities over the use of unmarked cars.

Superintendent of motor vehicles George Lindsay called for more arrests and said motorists must pay more attention to their driving and police more attention to lawbreakers.

DOUBLE VOTE

Liberal leader Ray Perrault blamed provincial government inactivity for the mounting death toll and recalled both Highways Minister Gaglardi and Attorney-General Bonner had voted against his resolution of March 15, 1962, calling for a special committee to examine and inquire into the subject of highway safety in B.C.

Beginning of End?

Whooping Crane Dwindling Again

OTTAWA (CP)—The northern affairs department said Friday the wild whooping crane population decreased in the last year to 28 from 38.

It said the snow-white bird with black wing tips and red-crowned head apparently is not nesting for the second year in a row.

"We are hoping that this abrupt decrease is not the beginning of the end for the wild population of these beautiful birds," the department said.

SOME IN ZOOS

There are six captive whoopers in the Audubon Park Zoo in New Orleans and one in the San Antonio Zoo.

The department said 38 cranes left their wintering grounds in Texas in the spring of 1962 for the 2,500-mile flight north. Only 32 completed the southward migration in the autumn.

Only 28 whoopers were sighted on the Aransas refuge by U.S. wildlife officials in March, just before the birds migrated north again.

A Canadian Wildlife Service aerial survey June 27 of the nesting grounds in Wood Buffalo Park, 500 miles north of Edmonton, revealed a single bird and two pairs. There was no evidence of nesting.

Court Shift Permanent

Switch of municipal magistrate's courts to the Saanich police-fire headquarters is a permanent change, civic leaders learned Friday.

Mayor Wilson said, following a meeting between Greater Victoria civic leaders and deputy attorney-general Dr. Gilbert Kennedy, there was a tentative agreement among the municipal representatives that the normal intermunicipal cost-sharing formula for joint projects would be applied to costs of operating the court in Saanich.

Irish Thief Chooses Jail Over Dublin

LONDON (UPI)—A judge gave Irishman Michael Bowler, 26, an unemployed laborer, the choice Friday of going to prison for three months or returning to Ireland.

Bowler, who admitted stealing a motor scooter, chose jail, saying: "I don't want to go back to Dublin. There's no work there."

Last-Ditch Stand

Foam-Firing Farmer Fails in Piggy Fight

CRAWLEY, England (Reuters)—Pig farmer James Lee, who drove his tractor to Buckingham Palace in London to protest an eviction order, lost his fight against authorities of this southern city Friday—despite a last-ditch stand with a fire extinguisher.

Lee, who refused to give up his pigs when ordered by local authorities, tried to hold off two municipal officials with a fire extinguisher when they came to evict him.

Then he rushed inside the house and bolted the doors. It took 30 minutes for one official to force open a back door under jets of extinguisher foam.

ONLY MEANS

The 58-year-old farmer clashed with local authorities after he sold his farm in 1957 for £13,500. He refused to get rid of his pigs because they were his only means of livelihood.

When the eviction order was made last week, Lee drove 31 miles to London on his brightly-colored tractor and handed in a letter of protest to the Queen at the gates of Buckingham Palace.

He says now: "My wife and I will now leave Crawley where we have spent 30 happy years."

The RCAF's Air Transport Command uses 200 aircraft ranging from the single engine Otter to the Yukon which is capable of taking 135 passengers.

New Home Open Soon

Operation of a new juvenile detention home to replace the outdated home on Coldharbour Road will begin next week, the juvenile detention home committee announced Friday.

Decision to move into the new building, which still has some finishing and landscaping to be completed, came Friday following an inspection by the detention home committee and representatives of the four municipalities. The new building is located on Cook Street behind the welfare centre.

TV TALK

It's becoming the "in" thing to say television has never been better. Don't you believe it—with all their faults, the live drama, comedy, variety and other shows of a decade or less ago had a freshness that the canned series like 77 Sunset Strip can never attain.

Freshest of the comics was Sid Caesar, but his work of recent years has been something to forget. There's a chance he may be much better this year—Caesar has hired the best of the oldtime radio writers, Goodman Ace, as his chief writer for 1963-64.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

A good bridge player instinctively tries to preserve entries in the weaker hand, usually the dummy. But on this deal, South had to use up one of dummy's entries immediately and also postpone drawing trumps in order to time his plays correctly.

Vul: None	NORTH
	♠ A Q 7
	♡ 6 5 3
	◇ K 4 3
	♣ A 4 3 2
WEST		EAST
♠ 10 8 6 4		♠ K J 9 3
♡ Q J 9		♡ 10
◇ Q J 9		◇ 10 8 6 2
♣ J 8 6		♣ K 10 9 5
	SOUTH (D)
	♠ 5 2
	♡ A K 8 7 4 2
	◇ A 7 5
	♣ Q 7

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♡	Pass	2 N.T.	Pass
3 ♡	Pass	4 ♡	All Pass

Opening lead: Diamond queen

In response to South's bid of one heart, North's bid of two no trump was simple and accurate, showing a balanced distribution and the strength for a minimum opening bid. South's rebid was more difficult. He could tell that his side held at least eight hearts, which would normally indicate that it would be advisable to try for the suit game. But as South had no singleton and his hearts offered a good chance of producing five or six tricks, it was possible that three no trump would prove simpler.

South left the choice of final contract to North by bidding three hearts, and North went on to four. This was a good contract, but as it happens three no trump would have been even better.

Obviously, a successful spade finesse or an even heart split would give South 10 tricks. But the clubs offered an additional chance and the problem was to time the play in order to take advantage of all possibilities.

Declarer made the vital play of winning the first diamond in dummy and leading a low club. East went up with his king and played a second diamond, won by South's ace. The spade finesse now became unnecessary as well as dangerous. Declarer played two top trumps, scored the club queen, went to dummy's spade ace and discarded a loser on dummy's club ace.

153 WANTED TO BUY HOUSES

THREE GREAT DANES

No—I don't mean three fine Dutchmen—I mean that I have a lady with three large dogs, and who requires a rustic country cottage, with seclusion and a little land—but not a large formal garden. A preference for a "Log Cabin" has been suggested—but that seems a little too far-fetched. However, if you have a little place that may interest my client, in a price range around $15,000, please call Mr. Stothers at EV 2-2301 or GR 9-4[illegible] evenings.

South Africa

Millions of Birds Victims of War

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — South Africa's five-year war is temporarily over. The casualties: 400,000,000 birds.

The feathered enemy was the red-billed finch, South Africa's most destructive bird.

During the early 1950s it caused losses to farmers officially estimated at $2,800,000 annually.

This largely resulted from a change in the finch's living habits, government entomologist D. C. Lourens says. Instead of migrating from place to place, giant concentrations focused on small-grain farming areas.

It was not unusual for a farmer to see a dark cloud of up to 2,000,000 of these birds loom out of a cluster of trees and descend on his grain fields.

★ ★ ★

Lourens, a man with a soft spot for birds, went as far as Mali and Senegal to study the problem. Then the war started.

First the army used dynamite to blow the roosting sites of finches into the air. This was too cumbersome and expensive.

Molotov cocktails were placed among trees where a colony of finches were lurking. The only satisfied people were African farm workers who like roasted finches.

★ ★ ★

Toxic sprays on grain lands did not give satisfactory results either.

The final method killed off millions of birds by spraying them at night with a contact poison.

South Africa now has only a few million of these destructive finches left. And when Lourens was in Europe recently some of the birds were offered to him—in a pet shop.

Garden Notes

Straw Fine Mulch

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

I have been beating my gums now for quite a few years on the importance of maintaining the humus content in the garden—on the necessity of supplementing chemical fertilizer with bulky organic material of some sort. One of the big problems, though, is how to get your hands on enough of the stuff.

Farmyard manure is not too easy to come by these days, and in any case, our womenfolk don't seem to relish the idea of a big reserve pile of manure sitting in the middle of the garden. Compost is wonderful stuff, and certainly there is no excuse for wasting the fallen leaves, lawn mowings and other vegetable wastes that accumulate through the season. But the way an enormous pile of leaves will shrink down through the winter is appalling, and when the time comes to spread the stuff, there is never enough to go round.

Straw seems to be one of the best answers to this problem. Baled straw doesn't take up too much space in the garden and isn't too expensive if you can buy it in lots of five or six bales at a time. Sometimes it is even possible to secure a load of spoiled or musty straw just for the cartage charges, and this is just as useful for our purpose as the good stuff.

Straw is especially valuable where small fruits are grown. It is a funny thing, but while every gardener knows about and uses straw around strawberries, few of them ever think to straw down their currants and cane berries. It is best put down in early winter, after the more pressing autumn jobs are completed, and spread to a depth of about nine inches around and among the bushes. Always scatter a good sprinkle of fertilizer on the ground first, one cupful per square yard.

As a result of this thick straw mulch, there will be no digging to do through the winter and no hoeing in the spring. Weeds are smothered, and the soil remains loose and open, with colonies of beneficial earthworms thriving in the cool, moist conditions. The ground under the straw becomes matted with fibrous feeding roots right up to the soil surface.

Black currants are especially appreciative of this treatment. In fact, they push ahead so fast that extra-severe pruning becomes necessary. The straw idea works well also with raspberries, logans, cultivated blackberries, red and white currants and gooseberries.

With gooseberries, though, cropping is a little later than normal when the straw is spread in winter. With this fruit, where earliness is a consideration, it is best to delay the mulching until May.

The effect of a really generous straw mulch has to be experienced to be believed. It makes working among your bushes far more comfortable and cleaner. The muddy boots problem in winter is licked. It makes picking and pruning a pleasure, and the straw gradually disintegrates, feeding the soil and maintaining the humus content. As it rots down, you simply top it up with more of the same the following season.

I understand, too, that valuable antibiotic moulds flourish in rotting straw and I have noticed that it has a remarkable revitalizing effect on soil which is "sick" from having carried one particular crop for too many years.

JOHN CROSBY Rambles in Spain

Dali's Mite Unsettling

PALAMOS, Spain — We came into Spain on a high mountain road that runs along the sea. We had lunch at Cerbere, one last French meal before all the olive oil of Spain. Then off on the mass of hairpin turns and potholes which the Spaniards call roads.

Roads anywhere else are a means of getting you from one place to another, but the Spaniards build a road, I suspect, not to get you there, but to prevent you from getting there, a test of your mettle, your spirit, your endurance—much more important to the Spaniards than getting from one place to another.

★ ★ ★

I worried about the customs because it might take time. I've entered Spain when they pawed through everything. Not this time. A man lounging in a chair asked, "Passport," stamped it, said "finis" and smiled.

Good heavens, I thought. The Spaniards are going soft. They never smiled. They scowled, full of suspicion. They are entering the twentieth century and we're the poorer for it.

I toyed with the idea of going down the coast and banging on the door of Salvador Dali. But I was in a hurry and didn't.

Last night, in Palamos, I mentioned Dali. Someone spoke up: "He stands at the window of his house and, if anyone even remotely interesting appears, he bounds out and says, 'Haven't we met someplace?' Anyway that's what he did with me and invited me in for a drink. There was an ashtray on the floor and every time I looked at it it had moved a little. I caught it moving. I didn't say anything, so he asked me, 'Didn't you notice my ashtray?' He'd fitted a plastic thing over a turtle and used that for an ashtray.

"Later some Venetian giants appeared over the horizon, ten feet tall and dressed in intricate Venetian costumes, walked toward us, bowed, and disappeared over the following hill. Dali had dressed a couple of fishermen in especially designed costumes and put them on stilts. I guess they wait for a signal and then come and bow to the guests. The whole place is like a mirage."

I was glad I'd heard about it. Dali's conceits are meant to be talked about, or written about. The actual experiences would be unsettling. It's a nice town, Cadaques, Dali, and all. I spent all of an hour there and retain a fierce image of the place on the backs of my eyeballs.

Bus Kills Sleepers

LUCKNOW, India (Reuters) — A bus ran over and killed 10 persons sleeping on a sidewalk here early Friday.

More Jobless Ottawa Fear

OTTAWA (CP)—Unemployment may be higher this fall and perhaps this winter than a year ago, Labor Minister MacEachen said Friday on the basis of a survey prepared for him about three months ago.

He gave no details in replying to a Commons question other than saying that no later forecast has been done.

Last year, unemployment began to mount between September and October and hit a mid-winter peak last March of 549,000 estimated jobless or 8.4 per cent of the labor force.

RECORD IN 1961

The record in post-war years was set in February, 1961, when 719,000 workers were idle.

The minister's comment came in a mixed but busy Commons day in which most debate centred on scrutiny of the $383,000,000 spending program for the transport department and its allied agencies.

DEFER FUND

The Commons also agreed to postpone action on a measure to provide $7,000,000 for speeding up additional job-making projects in high-unemployment areas this winter. The decision followed Conservative complaints that too few details now are known about the nature and location of these projects to warrant a blank cheque.

The government said there will be no delay—that ample funds exist to carry on any essential planning and execution before the anticipated reassembly of Parliament Sept. 30 after the recess expected next week.

PESTICIDE PROBE

The Commons, which will deal with pay and pension increases for its own members on Monday, also approved a resolution to appoint a special committee on the hazards of food contamination from insecticides, pesticides and other items, plus drug costs.

Vacation—10 Weeks

NEW YORK (AP) — Four major aluminum producers and the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers union agreed Friday on contracts providing 10-week vacations for employees once every five years.

The producers are the Aluminum Co. of America, Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp., Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., and the Ormet Corp. Negotiations had been going on since July 17.

AGREEMENT LATER

David McDonald, president of the Steelworkers, said he expected agreement later with Reynolds Metal Co.

Alcoa said the contract extension, from July 31 next year until at least June 1, 1965, covers about 12,000 employees at 11 plants.

EVERY FIVE YEARS

It provides the extended vacation plan for employees with a year or more of service. All eligible employees will get 10 consecutive weeks of vacation—with 13 weeks pay—once every five years. The plan becomes effective Jan. 1, 1964.

The agreement also provides a $10-a-week increase in sickness and accident benefits, thus permitting an employee to collect as much as $78 weekly in such benefits, the union said.

It said $500 would be added to life insurance of active employees and hospital care coverage would be extended to 365 days from the present 120 days.

Heat's On in Ottawa —MPs Cool by Fall

OTTAWA (UPI) — Canada's Parliament Buildings, a Mecca for tourists but lacking many modern comforts for year-round occupants, will get an internal going over this fall.

Public Works Minister Jean-Paul Deschatelets told members Friday his department is working out a long range plan of improvements, including air-conditioning for the members' offices and in the elevators and increased parking facilities.

"These are old buildings and we don't want to do it piecemeal," he said, adding the plan would be put in operation by fall.

The statement followed a barrage of questions from members prompted by sweltering summer weather.

Most irate was Harold Winch (NDP-Vancouver East) who made his case for comfort with shirt unbuttoned at the neck and tie askew.

Some of his guests had been denied entrance to the Opposition gallery because the teenage son did not have a jacket and his father was wearing shorts.

He asked Speaker Alan MacNaughton to revise the rules of "conventional dress" in the galleries.

JFK Says:

Treaty Victory For Man

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said Friday night that the nuclear test ban accord initialled in Moscow is a victory for mankind and a step away from a war that could wipe out 300,000,000 lives in less than an hour.

But the president also was cautious and grave.

He warned that the treaty to halt nuclear tests in space, the atmosphere and under water is no milennium and will not resolve all conflicts, cause the Communists to give up their ambitions or eliminate the dangers of war.

WELCOME SIGN

Yet he said, it offers to all the world a welcome sign of hope.

And, in a radio-television address that began the build-up to obtain Senate ratification of the pact, the president solumnly assured the country that "our security is not . . . impaired by the treaty I am discussing."

SHAFT OF LIGHT

He said the treaty cut a shaft of light into the darkness and will radically reduce nuclear testing. He said "it is a victory for mankind."

"It reflects no concessions either to or by the Soviet Union," Kennedy said. "It reflects our common recognition of the dangers in further testing."

Countdown and Out In Mercury Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt.-Col. John (Shorty) Powers, controversial spokesman for the U.S. astronauts, is losing his job. This was confirmed Friday by a source within the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The source said that Powers, the voice of "Mercury control" during space launches, will remain at the manned space flight centre in Houston, Tex., but he "will not be in public affairs."

Rumors of Powers' resignation—or removal—have been circulated since the 22-orbit flight of Astronaut Gordon Cooper last May. It has long been known here that Washington felt it should have more control over publicity dealing with the astronauts. Powers resisted.

'At Least 2,000 Died In Matter of Minutes

NIGHTMARE OF RUBBLE

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP - Reuters)—At least 2,000 persons were killed Friday when a violent earthquake sent buildings toppling in the city of Skopje. A massive mercy operation is under way in the shattered Macedonian city where many thousands were reported injured.

The lightning upheaval left a nightmare of rubble and death when it smashed the city. It was the worst natural disaster in Yugoslav history.

Borba, the biggest newspaper in this Communist nation, reported Friday night that 2,000 of Skopje's 270,000 residents died in a matter of minutes under the rubble where minium mosques and minarets and modern skyscrapers once stood.

MAY BE HIGHER

But officials in Belgrade and refugees pouring out of Skopje expressed fear the final toll will be many times that.

At United Nations headquarters in New York, Security Council President Ahmed Taibi Benhima of Morocco interrupted a council debate to announce that 10,000 persons had been killed and 100,000 left homeless in the disaster. However, he said later he based his announcement on unofficial dispatches reaching the UN headquarters.

STRUCK AT DAWN

The violent upheaval struck the heart of Skopje at dawn. Nine more tremors shook the southern Yugoslav area but were less severe.

Fires broke out. Great clouds of dust rose over the city of 270,000 people as buildings came crashing down. Thousands of persons fled to streets and squares in panic, clad only in night clothes.

Reuters news agency said semi-official reports estimated the number of dead and injured at between 6,000 and 8,000. More than 100,000 persons were reported homeless.

IMPOSSIBLE TO SAY

Radio Belgrade said there were "thousands of injured" but it was impossible to say yet how many died although the number "must be very great."

It was feared a number of foreigners, including Canadians, were in the ancient city when it was blasted by the nine-degree quake—one degree below the top grading on the Mercalli scale for earth tremors.

A report from Canada said 29 Toronto tourists of Macedonian ancestry were believed to be in the stricken city.

TORONTO VISITORS

The Toronto visitors flew to Yugoslavia June 17 and were to spend two weeks in Skopje before returning home.

Mrs. Hope Christoff of Don Mills, Ont., organizer of the trip, said in Canada that many of the party were booked into the new Macedonia Hotel which

Eyewitness:

Panic Filled Square

Three French tourists—Mr. and Mrs. Guy Miaille, and their friend, Lepetre Jean—were driving in the Skopje area Friday morning when the earthquake struck. Here is Miaille's story.

By GUY MIAILLE

BELGRADE (UPI) — We were camping by our car in Skopje's town park. Little did we know what dawn would bring.

About 5 a.m. we set out in our car and drove toward the centre of the sleeping city.

I was glancing at the big Yugoslav army home on the right-hand side of the road. In front of us lay a great, old bridge. At that moment, the earth trembled.

Force Terrific

The force was terrific. The Yugoslav army home began to fall like a house of cards.

Huge stones flew around like cannon balls. The car was taking a terrible beating. We leaped for safety.

In front of us had been an empty square. Now it was jammed with screaming, panicked citizens. They dashed back and forth—maddened by nature—near the army home.

Knocked Flat

Many of them were nothing but night shirts or pyjamas. I saw one man come running down the street near the army home. A flying stone knocked him flat. I went to help him but he was dead.

Streets in Ruins

The streets lay in ruins. A teachers' college was nothing but a rubble heap with smoke belching out. We wanted to get out of there.

Some local residents gave us a hand in fixing up the car as best we could. We drove away immediately toward the airport. On the way, more tremors shook our car.

At the airport we got aboard a special flight that took us here to Belgrade. I cannot say anything else. I still can think of nothing but the horrible picture of the city we left behind.

Tax Surplus

Sales Give B.C. $9,400,000 Lift

By TERRY HAMMOND
Colonist Legislative Reporter

B.C. shoppers gave Premier Bennett a $9,400,000 bonus last year.

Figures released by the government yesterday showed provincial sales tax revenues for the year ending last March as $96,947,000 against an estimated return of $87,500,000.

But that wasn't the only bonus the premier got.

DRINKERS HELP

Drinkers came through with $2,500,000 which the finance minister didn't expect in liquor profits, and gasoline users scratched together an additional $2,200,000 over their estimated contribution.

Petroleum and natural gas rights created a $6,700,000 windfall and income tax payments produced $2,800,000 which wasn't in the budget.

UNEXPECTED BONANZA

Net result of these miscalculations was $25,900,000 in unexpected revenue.

Welcome as it undoubtedly was, it really wasn't needed because the government's list of underexpenditures from original estimates was almost as impressive — savings totalled $21,000,000.

UNDEREXPENDITURES

Some notable departmental underexpenditures were:

Highways, $8,700,000 (actual spending $68,800,000).

Hospitals, $4,000,000 (actual expenditure, $31,900,000).

Let House Clear Me Ex-Navy Man's Plea

By HARVEY SHEPHERD

* * *

Stunned by a rebuff from Canada's defence minister, a Victoria man wants the fight to have his name cleared taken to the floor of the House of Commons.

Eric C. Petersen, 879 Tillicum, last night said he was "extremely disappointed, to say the least," in a letter received Friday from Defence Minister Paul Hellyer endorsing the 1961 decision of the Royal Canadian Navy not to re-engage Mr. Petersen, who had served 10 years.

FOLLOWS POLICY

The letter, to Victoria lawyer Lloyd McKenzie, who has taken up the case of Mr. Petersen, said, "I have satisfied myself that the action taken in not re-engaging Mr. Petersen was in accordance with long established policy."

He did not elaborate.

In a reply to Mr. Hellyer, Mr. McKenzie said:

"His (Mr. Petersen's) senior officers told him that the reason for letting him go was his father-in-law's connection with the Communist Party of Canada in the 1930s.

"Your letter does not even confirm this, but simply surrounds an already inexplicable decision with further mystery."

PAUL HELLYER

* * *

Mr. McKenzie's letter said the defence minister's letter "appears to offer no real justification for the navy's refusal to re-engage Mr. Petersen . . ."

The lawyer says he thinks the solution must come through parliamentary action.

"I hope that the matter can be debated so that the people of Canada can receive more tangible assurance that the action here taken was not wholly arbitrary, but founded on secure principle, the nature of which has not yet been disclosed.

JUST CAUSE NEEDED

" . . . There should be a just cause for such decision and in the present case that just cause is unknown."

Mr. Hellyer said in the Commons Friday he does not intend to alter the navy's decision and "I do not think it would be in the interest of Mr. Petersen or in the public interest to add anything to what I have said."

SERVICES' OPTION

Answering questions by David Orlikow (NDP—Winnipeg North) he said the services have the option of whether to offer to re-engage men when their terms are up, and Mr. Petersen got an honorable discharge without qualifications which might prejudice his future employment or community standing.

Mr. Petersen last night said that, for the sake of his family, "I am going to get my name cleared, come hell or high water."

Gordon Reports Budget Surplus

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal budgetary surplus of $19,100,000 after the first three months of the current fiscal year was reported Friday night by Finance Minister Gordon.

It compares with a $22,000,000 surplus at the same stage in the 1962-63 fiscal year which ended with an estimated $709,000,000 deficit.

Newest Satellite To Hang in Sky

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Syncom II, a new breed of space communications station, rocketed into orbit Friday and cleared two big hurdles toward its goal as the world's first synchronous satellite—one which hangs like a star over one area of the globe.

ARRESTED

First, the package was shot into a great egg-shaped orbit and as it raced upward received and transmitted back to earth the music of The Star Spangled Banner.

Five hours and 33 minutes after launching, a small motor aboard the satellite fired high over Africa to "arrest" the vehicle near an altitude of 22,548 miles.

At this point the satellite was in near-synchronous orbit and drifting slowly westward. On its present course, Syncom II would follow an equatorial line across Africa and the Atlantic Ocean until it reached a point over northern Brazil eight days from now.

WILL HOVER

Then ground stations plan to send radio signals to activate nitrogen jets which will adjust the satellite's speed and orientation so it will hover about 22,300 miles above the same area at all times.

Korea: 10 Years of Armistice

Battles Over But Peace Never Came

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UPI) —The Korean armistice was 10 years old today. United Nations troops still stood guard against the Communist threat on South Korea's northern flank.

It was 10 years ago today that a cease-fire agreement was signed by U.S. Gen. Mark Clark, commander-in-chief of the United Nations command, North Korean Marshal Kim Il Sung and Communist China's Gen. Peng Teh-huai, commander of the so-called Chinese People's Volunteers.

But the armistice has not brought real peace. While there has been no renewal of major fighting, there have been numerous clashes and troops have still been killed.

* * *

The situation was underlined by the UNC statements paying tribute to what it called a "decade of courage" on "freedom's frontier."

"There is no peace . . . in Korea today — only a cease fire," a UNC statement in connection with the 10th anniversary reminded.

"Guns of both sides are in position, and the ammunition for them is ready for loading," the UNC said.

* * *

"Armies still face armies across the no-man's land we call the DMZ (Demilitarized Zone) and from this ostensible detente, incidents provoked by Communist infiltration have arisen. In them we have sustained casualties, both dead and injured."

Both the UNC and the Communists have constantly accused the other of violating the terms of the armistice.

The first meeting of the Military Armistice Commission, the principal agency set up to supervise the cease-fire, was held on July 28, 1953.

* * *

Since then, it has met 175 times and its secretaries have met 259 times. The futility of these meetings is pointed up by the large number of violations alleged by both sides and the small number of admissions.

The Communists have accused the UNC of more than 7,000 violations. The UNC has admitted only about one out of every hundred.

The UNC has accused the Communists of about 3,500 violations. The Reds have admitted only two.

The MAC met for 5½ hours yesterday and swapped charges again of alleged violations.

The Communists also rejected again a UNC demand for the release of two American officers captured last May when their helicopter was forced down while checking demarcation line markers.

Lett BCE Judgment Announced Monday

VANCOUVER (CP) — The court registry office here announced Friday that the potentially-explosive judgment on the takeover of the B.C. Electric Co. by the provincial government will be released next Monday. (See also Page 6.)

A spokesman for the registry office said the judgment of Chief Justice Sherwood Lett will be released Monday about 2 p.m.

The judgment concerns a complex suit by B.C. Power Corporation, former owner of the B.C. Electric, contending the takeover was unconstitutional and the compensation inadequate.

The government paid a total of $171,000,000 for the company. B.C. Power Corp. maintains it was worth at least $225,000,000.

The timing of the judgment comes almost exactly on the second anniversary of the Aug. 1, 1961, takeover.

Airman from Ladysmith Wins Medal for Bravery

A Ladysmith man, credited with saving at least three lives during a fire last April at the RCAF station in Grostenquin, France, has been cited for bravery along with two others, the RCAF said in Ottawa yesterday.

LAC Robert George Cole of Ladysmith has been awarded the British Empire Medal for gallantry. Cpl. Charles H. R. Nelson of Lethbridge, and LAC Ralph Wayne McLaughlan of Moncton, both have received the Queen's commendation for brave conduct.

The citations commended the three airmen for fortitude, persistence and courage during the fire, which took the life of one child.

LAC Cole located three children in the blaze and with the assistance of Cpl. Nelson and LAC McLaughlan, helped them to safety.

Pulp Mill Expansion Means 150 More Permanent Jobs

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Another $15,000,000 plant expansion at Port Alberni, announced Friday night by J. V. Clyne, chairman of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd., will bring more than 150 new permanent jobs to the valley, and work for 250 construction men for the next 18 months.

Mr. Clyne said the company had completed its engineering planning for expansion of the pulp and logging facilities at Port Alberni. Construction is to start immediately.

BOOST OUTPUT

The expansion will increase the company's pulp production by 70,000 tons of unbleached sulphate pulp a year.

The present pulp capacity of the MacMillan company is 380,000 tons a year, and the current $40,000,000 expansion at Harmac will create a further 150,000-tons-a-year capacity by the end of 1963.

580,000 TONS

Mr. Clyne said when the present pulp expansion program of $85,000,000 is completed in 1964, the company's pulp capacity of all types would be 580,000 tons a year.

The new jobs in Port Alberni, as a result of the newly-announced expansion, would include 55 in the mill and 100 in related logging and woods operations.

MORE PURCHASES

MacMillan will also increase its purchases of logs from independent loggers as a result of increased requirements of the expanded pulp mill.

The new installation will include a continuous digester, lime kilns, modification to present pulp drier to increase capacity and a black liquor oxygenization unit and precipitator.

UNIQUE POSITION

Mr. Clyne said the company was in a unique position to expand its pulp capacity at Port Alberni with the maximum economy because the required pulp drying facilities were already in existence.

As a result of the expansion the company will produce new grades of unbleached pulps and plans are in progress to do so.

INVESTMENTS

Mr. Clyne said that since 1951 the company has made capital investments in plants and operations of $350,000,000.

Now under construction is a $40,000,000 expansion at Harmac, a $23,000,000 newsprint expansion at Port Alberni, and a $7,000,000 modernization at Powell River.

Breakwater Derby Hits Peak

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Oooh! What is it? Lynne Evans, 1676 Derby, wonders—and so does bystander. Hooked flounder was just one of many shapes and sizes of fish weighed in at playground derby Friday. All youngsters who caught fish won prizes.—(Ryan Bros.)

Ogden Point Breakwater took on the look of a giant porcupine yesterday as fishing rods bristled from practically every square foot of space.

Reason for all the activity was the 12th annual children's derby of the city's summer playground program, sponsored by the T. Eaton Company of Victoria.

Derby started at 1 p.m., and by 3 p.m. officials had counted 2,450 children through the gate to the breakwater.

Parents Along

Many parents accompanied the children and made a family outing of the youngsters' big day.

Hot sun poured down on the children as they combed the still water for the "big ones."

Almost every known lure and many unknown, were used, as plugs, spoons, minnows, worms and breadcrusts splashed into the water from one end of the breakwater to the other.

Many fish were caught from bullheads to bass, with the biggest a 2:3-pound bass caught by Ian Rossiter, 1331 Esquimalt Road.

In 20 Minutes

The youngster caught the winner 20 minutes after the derby started and won a bicycle as first prize.

Second prize of a skin-diving outfit went to Cindy MacDonald, 654 Pine, with a 1:8-pound rock cod.

Miss MacDonald caught her fish 10 minutes before the close of the derby at 4 p.m.

Third prize of a rod and reel went to Wendel Rellander, who was not there at the finish, but can pick his prize up at the T. Eaton Company.

Close Watch

A close eye was kept on the young anglers, with 30 city playground supervisors scattered along the breakwater.

One youngster was seen walking along the breakwater with a fishing spoon hooked to the seat of his pants.

Asked if he hooked it there when casting, his reply was "Heck no, I tore my pants and I had to have something to hold them together."

At one spot, a mother was swimming around the kelp patch retreating errant lures for the children.

"This is one of the best attended derbies since they were started 12 years ago and things went very well," said Gordon Hartley, playgrounds supervisor.

New Order Changes Nothing

NANAIMO (CP) — The chairman of the B.C. Milk Board said Thursday night a new board order on the price of milk virtually changes nothing.

E. C. Carr said after meeting directors of the Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association the order embodies former orders in a simplified form.

Under the order the milk price to producers is set at the previous month's surplus price plus $3 per hundred.

"A new order over a period of five to 10 years will be better for all B.C. dairymen generally," Mr. Carr said.

Strike Talks Halted

Fishermen's strike settlement talks broke off in their first day Friday after union representatives handed a conciliation officer a sealed envelope which they said contained the union's "final, rock bottom" offer.

The B.C. government had initiated the short-lived attempt to get representatives of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (Ind.) and the Fisheries Association of B.C., representing companies, together in Vancouver with chief conciliation officer Reg Clements.

THIRTEENTH DAY

About 10,000 B.C. net fishermen and shore workers, including about 250 to 300 Victoria people, are on strike. The strike enters its 13th day today.

The association Friday branded the union's handing of the sealed envelope to Mr. Clements as an attempt to force companies to accept the offer "sight unseen."

ANSWER TO COMPANIES

The union later said the sealed envelope could only be opened when the companies agreed to "withdraw their double-barreled threat that either our members must vote to accept their offer of July 16 or there would be no season."

A union spokesman said since the companies had only repeated their July 16 offer at Friday's meeting, it is unlikely the envelope will be opened.

REMAIN OPEN

Labor Minister Peterson later said in Victoria the facilities of the labor department remain open to the parties in the dispute, if they need them.

Attorney-General Bonner Friday said B.C. may have to pass special legislation to prevent further disputes by strikes of the B.C. fishing industry.

FEDERAL MATTER

He said he had assumed at the outset of the strike that the federal government, responsible for fisheries legislation under the British North America Act, would take some responsibility. He was disappointed they had not.

He said marketing controls are one way B.C. might try to control the situation. The fruit, vegetable and milk industries are controlled by marketing boards in B.C., which establish fixed prices.

Ferry Profit Slips

The B.C. government ferry service nearly doubled its revenue last year but watched its profit slip by 40 percent.

★ ★ ★

Ferry revenues soared to $9,847,527 for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1963—up from $5,300,000 the previous year.

Profits fell to $456,159 from a previous year's figure of $775,000.

★ ★ ★

The figures showed up in the government's financial and economic review published yesterday.

They told a story of operating costs rising faster than gross revenues.

The reason: Rapid expansion and more frequent service.

Starting with two vessels in 1960, the service has blossomed to a 19-ship fleet in operation or under construction.

The inaugural staff of 250 has swollen to 1,250.

During the year the ferry service carried 2,800,000 passengers and nearly 1,000,000 vehicles.

★ ★ ★

The system's capital structure last year benefited from a $5,800,000 federal windfall in the form of the Canada ship construction subsidy.

The B.C. Toll Authority, of which the ferry system is a part, showed a net profit of $753,035 which grows to an overall surplus of $3,100,800 when provincial subsidies and sinking fund earnings are added.

Final Flag Order?

Why Did Tug Sink at Sea?

NANAIMO (CP) — Why did an apparently seaworthy $200,000 new steel tug sink in the Strait of Georgia Thursday?

Is there any connection between the sinking of the Scotch Fir and her sister ship the Black Fir, which went down just as mysteriously in March?

The answer to both these questions lies in deep water—water too deep for divers to penetrate.

Two crew members lost their lives in the accident Thursday. They were skipper Ken Hues, 36, of North Surrey and deckhand Ken Kasper, 16, of Aldergrove. The helmsman, Don Maxim, 29, clambered into the lifeboat as the tug went under.

R. C. Benson, manager of the Benson Brothers shipyard in Vancouver, builder of both tugs, said: "I don't know how she could have sunk. It's just odd, both of them sinking this way is odd."

Jake Kasper, the regular skipper, who got off the ship Wednesday to take his son to hospital, said the Scotch Fir was equipped with every device related to safety including the newest in water tight hatches and pumps.

"It was just one of those queer mysteries of the sea, and I don't know how it could have happened," he said.

Maxim said the Scotch Fir went down so quickly he didn't have time to warn anyone.

The previous Scotch Fir was destroyed by fire off the west coast of Vancouver Island two years ago.

'I'll Never Work On Steel Tug Again'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Don Maxim, lone survivor of a tugboat sinking near Nanaimo Thursday that took two lives, said Friday: "I'll never work on a steel-hulled tug again."

"Steel hulls sink in seconds without warning," he said. "You don't have a chance."

Maxim said if the Scotch Fir's hull had been made of wood it probably would have foundered at the surface long enough for his two shipmates to escape.

Department of transport marine co-ordinator Capt. Charles Barber said Friday he will hold an in camera inquiry next week into the sinking and report his findings to Ottawa.

Victim Cut Short Family Vacation

NANAIMO (CP) — Ken Kasper, 16, missing and presumed drowned after a 36-foot steel tug sank mysteriously in the Strait of Georgia Thursday, had cut short a vacation with his family in Calgary to take a deckhand's job on the boat.

"It was his first big summer job," his father, Peter Kasper, of Aldergrove, said in an interview. "He jumped at the chance to take the job because he wanted to save for his schooling."

The boy was vacationing with his family when he received a telephone call telling him a deckhand's job was available on the tug, the Scotch Fir.

Ken Hues, 36, of North Surrey, skipper of the Scotch Fir, is also missing and presumed drowned. The third person on board, crewman Don Maxim, 29, of North Surrey, escaped in the tug's lifeboat. He rowed for four hours to reach Nanaimo and give the alarm.

JFK Says:

Treaty Victory For Man

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said Friday night that the nuclear test ban accord initialled in Moscow is a victory for mankind and a step away from a war that could wipe out 300,000,000 lives in less than an hour.

But the president also was cautious and grave.

He warned that the treaty to halt nuclear tests in space, the atmosphere and under water is no milennium and will not resolve all conflicts, cause the Communists to give up their ambitions or eliminate the dangers of war. (See stories Page 16.)

WELCOME SIGN

Yet he said, it offers to all the world a welcome sign of hope.

And, in a radio-television address that began the build-up to obtain Senate ratification of the pact, the president solemnly assured the country that "our security is not . . . impaired by the treaty I am discussing."

SHAFT OF LIGHT

He said the treaty cut a shaft of light into the darkness and will radically reduce nuclear testing. He said "it is a victory for mankind."

"It reflects no concessions either to or by the Soviet Union," Kennedy said. "It reflects our common recognition of the dangers in further testing."

It Was Fun Trying

2,000 DIED AT SKOPJE IN MINUTES

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP - Reuters)—At least 2,000 persons were killed Friday when a violent earthquake sent buildings toppling in the city of Skopje. A massive mercy operation is under way in the shattered Macedonian city where many thousands were reported injured.

The lightning upheaval left a nightmare of rubble and death when it smashed the city. It was the worst natural disaster in Yugoslav history.

Borba, the biggest newspaper in this Communist nation, reported Friday night that 2,000 of Skopje's 270,000 residents died in a matter of minutes under the rubble where Moslem mosques and minarets and modern skyscrapers once stood.

MAY BE HIGHER

But officials in Belgrade and refugees pouring out of Skopje expressed fear the final toll will be many times that.

At United Nations headquarters in New York, Security Council President Ahmed Taibi Benhima of Morocco interrupted a council debate to announce that 10,000 persons had been killed and 100,000 left homeless in the disaster. However, he said later he based his announcement on unofficial dispatches reaching the UN headquarters.

STRUCK AT DAWN

The violent upheaval struck the heart of Skopje at dawn. Nine more tremors shook the southern Yugoslav area but were less severe.

Fires broke out. Great clouds of dust rose over the city of 270,000 people as buildings came crashing down. Thousands of persons fled to streets and squares in panic, clad only in night clothes.

Reuters news agency said semi-official reports estimated the number of dead and injured at between 6,000 and 8,000. More than 100,000 persons were reported homeless.

IMPOSSIBLE TO SAY

Radio Belgrade said there were "thousands of injured" but it was impossible to say yet how many died although the number "must be very great."

It was feared a number of foreigners, including Canadians, were in the ancient city when it was blasted by the nine-degree quake—one degree below the top grading on the Mercalli scale for earth tremors.

A report from Canada said 29 Toronto tourists of Macedonian ancestry were believed to be in the stricken city.

TORONTO VISITORS

The Toronto visitors flew to Yugoslavia June 17 and were to spend two weeks in Skopje before returning home.

Mrs. Hope Christoff of Don Mills, Ont., organizer of the trip, said in Canada that many of the party were booked into the new Macedonia Hotel which

Eyewitness:

Panic Filled Square

Three French tourists—Mr. and Mrs. Guy Miaille, and their friend, Lepriore Sean—were driving in the Skopje area Friday morning when the earthquake struck. Here is Miaille's story.

By GUY MIAILLE

BELGRADE (UPI) — We were camping by our car in Skopje's town park. Little did we know what dawn would bring.

About 5 a.m. we set out in our car and drove toward the centre of the sleeping city.

I was glancing at the big Yugoslav army home on the right-hand side of the road. In front of us lay a great, old bridge. At that moment, the earth trembled.

Force Terrific

The force was terrific. The Yugoslav army home began to fall like a house of cards.

Huge stones flew around like cannon balls. The car was taking a terrible beating. We leaped for safety.

In front of us had been an empty square. Now it was jammed with screaming, panicked citizens. They dashed back and forth—maddened by nature—near the army home.

Knocked Flat

Many of them wore nothing but night shirts or pyjamas. I saw one man come running down the street near the army home. A flying stone knocked him flat. I went to help him but he was dead.

Streets in Ruins

The streets lay in ruins. A teachers' college was nothing but a rubble heap with smoke belching out. We wanted to get out of there.

Some local residents gave us a hand in fixing up the car as best we could. We drove away immediately toward the airport. On the way, more tremors shook our car.

At the airport we got aboard a special flight that took us here to Belgrade. I cannot say anything else. I still can think of nothing but the horrible picture of the city we left behind.

Tax Surplus

Sales Give B.C. $9,400,000 Lift

By TERRY HAMMOND
Colonist Legislative Reporter

B.C. shoppers gave Premier Bennett a $9,400,000 bonus last year.

Figures released by the government yesterday showed provincial sales tax revenues for the year ending last March as $96,917,000 against an estimated return of $87,500,000.

But that wasn't the only bonus the premier got.

DRINKERS HELP

Drinkers came through with $2,500,000 which the finance minister didn't expect in liquor profits, and gasoline users scratched together an additional $2,200,000 over their estimated contribution.

Petroleum and natural gas rights created a $6,700,000 windfall and income tax payments produced $2,800,000 which wasn't in the budget.

UNEXPECTED BONANZA

Net result of these miscalculations was $25,900,000 in unexpected revenue.

Welcome as it undoubtedly was, it really wasn't needed because the government's list of underexpenditures from original estimates was almost as impressive — savings totalled $21,000,000.

UNDEREXPENDITURES

Some notable departmental underexpenditures were:

Highways, $8,700,000 (actual spending $68,800,000).

Hospitals, $4,000,000 (actual expenditure, $31,900,000).

Let House Clear Me Ex-Navy Man's Plea

By HARVEY SHEPHERD

Stunned by a rebuff from Canada's defence minister, a Victoria man wants the fight to have his name cleared taken to the floor of the House of Commons.

Eric C. Petersen, 879 Tillicum, last night said he was "extremely disappointed, to say the least," in a letter received Friday from Defence Minister Paul Hellyer endorsing the 1961 decision of the Royal Canadian Navy not to re-engage Mr. Petersen, who had served 10 years.

FOLLOWS POLICY

The letter, to Victoria lawyer Lloyd McKenzie, who has taken up the case of Mr. Petersen, said, "I have satisfied myself that the action taken in not re-engaging Mr. Petersen was in accordance with long established policy."

He did not elaborate.

In a reply to Mr. Hellyer, Mr. McKenzie said:

"His (Mr. Petersen's) senior officers told him that the reason for letting him go was his father-in-law's connection with the Communist Party of Canada in the 1930s.

"Your letter does not even confirm this, but simply surrounds an already inexplicable decision with further mystery."

Mr. McKenzie's letter said the defence minister's letter "appears to offer no real justification for the navy's refusal to re-engage Mr. Petersen . . ."

The lawyer says he thinks the solution must come through parliamentary action.

★ ★ ★

PAUL HELLYER

★ ★ ★

"I hope that the matter can be debated so that the people of Canada can receive more tangible assurance that the action here taken was not wholly arbitrary, but founded on secure principle, the nature of which has not yet been disclosed.

JUST CAUSE NEEDED

" . . . There should be a just cause for such decision and in the present case that just cause is unknown."

Mr. Hellyer said in the Commons Friday he does not intend to alter the navy's decision and "I do not think it would be in the interest of Mr. Petersen or in the public interest to add anything to what I have said."

SERVICES' OPTION

Answering questions by David Orlikow (NDP—Winnipeg North) he said the services have the option of whether to offer to re-engage men when their terms are up, and Mr. Petersen got an honorable discharge without qualifications which might prejudice his future employment or community standing.

Mr. Petersen last night said that, for the sake of his family, "I am going to get my name cleared, come hell or high water."

Gordon Reports Budget Surplus

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal budgetary surplus of $19,100,000 after the first three months of the current fiscal year was reported Friday night by Finance Minister Gordon.

It compares with a $22,000,000 surplus at the same stage in the 1962-63 fiscal year which ended with an estimated $709,000,000 deficit.

Newest Satellite To Hang in Sky

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Syncom II, a new breed of space communications station, rocketed into orbit Friday and cleared two big hurdles toward its goal as the world's first synchronous satellite—one which hangs like a star over one area of the globe.

ARRESTED

First, the package was shot into a great egg-shaped orbit and as it raced upward received and transmitted back to earth the music of The Star Spangled Banner.

Five hours and 33 minutes after launching, a small motor aboard the satellite fired high over Africa to "arrest" the vehicle near an altitude of 22,548 miles.

At this point the satellite was in near-synchronous orbit and drifting slowly westward. On its present course, Syncom II would follow an equatorial line across Africa and the Atlantic Ocean until it reached a point over northern Brazil eight days from now.

WILL HOVER

Then ground stations plan to send radio signals to activate nitrogen jets which will adjust the satellite's speed and orientation so it will hover about 22,300 miles above the same area at all times.

Lett BCE Judgment Scheduled Monday

VANCOUVER (CP) — The court registry office here announced Friday that the potentially-explosive judgment on the takeover of the B.C. Electric Co. by the provincial government will be released next Monday. (See also Page 6.)

A spokesman for the registry office said the judgment of Chief Justice Sherwood Lett will be released Monday about 2 p.m.

The judgment concerns a complex suit by B.C. Power Corporation, former owner of the B.C. Electric, contending the takeover was unconstitutional and the compensation inadequate.

The government paid a total of $171,600,000 for the company. B.C. Power Corp. maintains it was worth at least $225,000,000.

The timing of the judgment comes almost exactly on the second anniversary of the Aug. 1, 1961, takeover.

Korea: 10 Years of Armistice

Battles Over But Peace Never Came

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UPI) —The Korean armistice was 10 years old today. United Nations troops still stood guard against the Communist threat on South Korea's northern flank.

It was 10 years ago today that a cease-fire agreement was signed by U.S. Gen. Mark Clark, commander-in-chief of the United Nations command, North Korean Marshal Kim Il Sung and Communist China's Gen. Peng Teh-huai, commander of the so-called Chinese People's Volunteers.

But the armistice has not brought real peace. While there has been no renewal of major fighting, there have been numerous clashes and troops have still been killed.

The situation was underlined by the UNC statements paying tribute to what it called a "decade of courage" on "freedom's frontier."

"There is no peace . . . in Korea today — only a cease fire," a UNC statement in connection with the 10th anniversary reminded.

"Guns of both sides are in position, and the ammunition for them is ready for loading," the UNC said.

"Armies still face armies across the no-man's land we call the DMZ (Demilitarized Zone) and from this ostensible detente, incidents provoked by Communist infiltration have arisen. In them we have sustained casualties, both dead and injured."

Since then, it has met 175 times and its secretaries have met 259 times. The futility of these meetings is pointed up by the large number of violations alleged by both sides and the small number of admissions.

The Communists have accused the UNC of more than 7,000 violations. The UNC has admitted only about one out of every hundred.

The UNC has accused the Communists of about 3,500 violations. The Reds have admitted only two.

The MAC met for 5½ hours yesterday and swapped charges again of alleged violations.

The Communists also rejected again a UNC demand for the release of two American officers captured last May when their helicopter was forced down while checking demarcation line markers.
